TILITY'S PROFITS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Section Revealed on Publication Showing $927,142 Last Year, 21 Per Cent Gain Over 1926.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, March 1.—The rate commission, which is now studying the accounts of the Union Electric Light & Power Co. of St. Louis, is expected to announce its findings here today, following publication in the Post-Dispatch yesterday of the fact that the company's profit was $927,142, or 21 per cent greater than in 1926.

Chief, if not sole, beneficiaries of the anticipated rate cut will be the consumers, who pay the electric rate. While recent proceedings looking toward the reduction are not on record with the State Public Service Commission, T. J. Brown, chairman of the commission, confirmed the fact that an investigation is being made of the Union Electric rate structure and accounts for guidance in considering new schedule.

Recently, representatives of the company, chiefly Frank J. Boehm, president, were before the commission for application to sell stock of the St. Louis County Gas Co., a subsidiary. The commission, which had heard word in advance of the proposed sale, expressed the opinion that the utility had increased profits in 1927, and the opportunity to broach the subject of rate reduction.

Commission Getting Data. Since this was an informal procedure, it was not entered on the records nor announced at the time of publication. However, a report of the commission for additional data from the company came the force of an order, and the figures are being prepared. The commission will study not only the company's return which, Boehm said in St. Louis yesterday, was 8.14 per cent last year.

This week the company notified the commission it would require four or five weeks for a detailed analysis of its books to meet the request for all facts bearing on rates, including earnings from the various classifications of consumers. Other items involved are additions and betterments, which affect the valuation, on which the rate of return is based, and depreciation charges.

Rate Reduction Imminent. The authoritative statement that rate reduction is imminent was based on what was learned at the recent conference with company representatives and on information previously in hand. Rate reduction through conference and agreement is a short-cut method. It is possible that a great reduction might be feasible if a complete audit and valuation appraisal were made, but such a procedure would be slower and more costly. There is no intention now to go this far, but there is a chance that a decision to do so might be reached later.

No complete audit of Union Electric has been made by the commission since the last official valuation, dated as of Dec. 31, 1915. The company has kept its valuation up to date on its own books by annual revisions to show additions, depreciation and betterments, but it has not been audited by the commission. The company has kept its valuation up to date on its own books by annual revisions to show additions, depreciation and betterments, but it has not been audited by the commission.

NOT ON MILLS' OUTPUT LOWER

Manufacturers Report 20 Per Cent In Production. NEW YORK, March 1.—Reduced production of cotton goods to an extent of about 20 per cent below normal was reported by cotton manufacturers who attended a meeting of the goods manufacturers yesterday. Sixty mills, with more than 50 per cent of the fine goods looms in the United States, were represented at the gathering. The curtailment in production was reported as intended to prevent an accumulation of goods of demand and to forestall the possibility that might result from the pressure of goods on the market.

DIAMONDS IN NEW FIELD SAID TO BE LYING ON GROUND

Richest Find Ever Made, South African Officials Say of Discovery.

By the Associated Press. CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, March 1.—The romantic discovery of a fabulously rich alluvial deposit of diamonds in Namaland was reported to the South African House of Assembly today. "The biggest diamond field ever discovered anywhere," is how Sir David Harris, member of the Assembly for Kimberly, described the discovery.

So plentiful were the diamonds, said one speaker, that they were lying on the surface waiting to be picked up. Minister of Mines Beyers added his voice to the description, informing the assembly that the discoveries were "unique in the history of the country."

DIRIGIBLE LEAVES CUBA ON RETURN TRIP TO U. S.

Los Angeles Resumes Flight From Canal to Lakewood, N. J., Hangar.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 1.—The airship Los Angeles left its mooring mast on the tender Patoka in Guacanayabo Bay, Cuba, at 10:42 o'clock this morning for the 1300-mile flight back to the hangar at Lakewood, N. J., the Navy Department was informed by radio. The message telling of the departure of the dirigible for her home port came from the Patoka. The Los Angeles is expected to cover the 1300 miles to Lakewood by noon tomorrow.

Lieutenant-Commander C. E. Rosendahl, its pilot-in-chief, had planned to continue the flight from Panama to New Jersey after refueling at the Patoka yesterday afternoon, but decided to remain over Guacanayabo Bay over night when advised that conditions would be unfavorable for a landing at Lakewood.

CUCKOO GANGSTER ARRAIGNED FOR PART IN MAIL ROBBERY

Milford Jones Given $20,000 Bond, Returnable March 23, on Federal Charge.

Milford Jones, Cuckoo gangster who has a lengthy record of arrests, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Atkins today on charges made in a Federal indictment. Springfield, Ill., that he was one of the parties to the Collinsville mail robbery, for which the three Shelton brothers were convicted in District Court. They later were granted a new trial when a Federal witness changed his story.

Jones gave bond of $20,000, which was signed by Clarence Owen and James Miller, and is returnable March 23. He will have a hearing at that time on the application of Federal authorities to remove him to the jurisdiction of the Federal Court of the Illinois district.

The indictment charges he took part in a conspiracy to rob the United States mails and names as his fellow conspirators, Carl Earl and Bernie Shelton, Lawrence Lawrence Daugherty, Freddie Wooten and Art Newman. The indictment sets forth an alleged offer of $1000 by Bernie Shelton to Art Newman for the use of an automobile, a meeting to settle details of the robbery at the home of Slieth Thompson, near Collinsville, and alleges that Newman turned over to Freddie Wooten the keys of the automobile used in the robbery.

The second trial of the Shelton brothers for the mail robbery is set for the March term of the District Court.

WILL DISCLOSE $2500 GIFT TO WILSON BY C. H. DODGE

History of Present Made Less Than Two Years Before Benefactor's Death Required by Law.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A gift of $2500 to Woodrow Wilson a month before his death, on Feb. 3, 1924, by his lifelong friend and Princeton University classmate, Cleveland H. Dodge, was disclosed today when a tax appraisal was filed fixing the value of the Dodge estate at $15,522,705 gross and $14,529,410 net.

The will gave the bulk of the estate to the family. The listing of the single gift was required by law because it was made within two years of the death of Mr. Dodge. It consisted of a single line: "Jan. 2—W. Wilson. Washington, D. C., $2500." Some of this estate goes to charity, since the testator stated that he was sure his wife and children, who share in the estate, would "use the property entrusted to them liberally for humane and benevolent objects." Mr. Dodge made large gifts to charity during his life.

CRIME INCREASE ATTRIBUTED TO UNEMPLOYMENT

Police Chief Says St. Louis and Other Cities Are Feeling Ill-Effects of Economic Conditions.

ROBBER FRACTURES WOMAN'S SKULL

Mrs. Laura Wilford, 45, Victim Is One of Twelve Holdups on Streets and in Stores Last Night.

Economic conditions are responsible for a noticeable increase in robbery in St. Louis recently, Chief of Police Gerk said today. The large number of holdups reported here, as in other cities, is in proportion to the unemployment situation, Chief Gerk believes.

In less than a week there have been two bank holdups on the outskirts of St. Louis—an unusual record. The Wellston Trust Co. was robbed Friday, and the Old Orchard State Bank of Webster Groves yesterday.

St. Louis police were kept busy last night with reports of 12 street and store holdups, in one of which a woman was badly beaten. On the credit side of the police ledger was the arrest of a police character caught in the act of burglary.

Officer Interrupts Burglary. Patrolman Charles Mohr, off duty and returning, after a night's work, to his home at 1218 Grattan street, interrupted a burglary at the grocery of Ries & Ries, 1201 Grattan, at 12:30 a. m. One man, standing outside the store as a lookout, fled at the policeman's approach. The policeman ran up to the store in time to catch a young man coming out with 21 cartons of cigarettes and a box of cigars in his arms, and $17.11 in his pockets.

The youth was Raymond Tipton, 25 years old, who has been arrested 45 times for investigation. He is a brother of Roy Tipton, Cuckoo gangster, now serving a prison term for mail robbery. Police reported Tipton confessed the burglary, but refused to name his accomplices who escaped.

Woman's Skull Fractured. When Mrs. Laura Wilford, 45, 2611 De Kalb street, resisted a Negro who held her up in the 1200 block of North Tenth street, at 6:30 p. m., the Negro struck her on the head, fracturing her skull slightly and necessitating treatment at City Hospital. The robber escaped with her purse and $2.

An armed man with the appearance of a drug addict, held up John Mueller in his drug store at 2801 Lee avenue, took $265, including $45 in postoffice receipts, and demanded morphine, taking $3 worth of the drug from under a counter when it was pointed out to him. An armed man who held up Terry Gerson in a drug store at 2959 Sheridan avenue, took $20 worth of narcotics, $50 cash and a $20 wrist watch.

Two Victims Locked Up in Store. After obtaining $75 in a holdup at the drug store at 5500 Natural Bridge avenue, two men locked the door and threw the key on the sidewalk. Two employees, locked in the store, pounded on a window until a policeman came along, picked up the key and opened the door.

"Hang up that thing," ordered an armed man who entered the filling station at 4700 Delmar boulevard, as Thomas Henderson, the attendant, was using the telephone. Henderson hung up and was robbed of $25.

In other filling station holdups, robbers got $31 at the station at 1207 Union boulevard, $55 at Pershing and Clara avenues, $45 at 1216 North Kingshighway, and $15 at 2520 North Grand boulevard, locking up three station attendants.

Other holdups: Kroger store at 2519 North Sarah street, $100; confectionery of John Haberstroff, 4243 West Florissant avenue, $9 and watch; fruit store of Mrs. Rose Valenti, 723 North Vandeventer avenue, $15.

BUILDING PERMITS SHOW $391,000 GAIN IN FEBRUARY

Amount Issued Totals $2,594,812; January Figure Also Was Increased Over 1927.

Building permits issued last month were for a total estimated cost of $2,594,812, or $391,000 more than in February of last year. So far this year permits have been issued for almost $2,000,000, more than in January and February last year. Permits were issued last month for $2,415,377 construction, as compared to $253,658 in January, 1927.

REFUSAL OF COLBY DECREE ENDS EASY FRENCH DIVORCES

Tribunals to Enforce Strictly in Future Provisions Calling for Bona Fide Residence in France.

OTHER CASES FROM U. S. STILL PENDING

Plaintiff to Appeal Decision of Versailles Court, Which Ruled Itself Incompetent to Act.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 1.—Easy American divorces in France have ended with a decision of the Versailles tribunal denying Bainbridge Colby's suit for divorce because his residence here was deemed insufficient.

The Colby case is likely to be appealed, but both French and American lawyers think that the higher courts will be even more severe than the Versailles tribunal in their determination of French residence. The courts no longer are content with fictitious residents in France. The special judge who has been detailed to handle foreign divorces in Paris now asks whether applicants have sold their homes and business in their own countries and really intend to live here.

Decision Causes Surprise. The Colby decision is a high spot in the recent French policy for strict enforcement of the law, but nevertheless caused general surprise, particularly as Charles G. Loeb, Colby's attorney, had retained Alexandre Millerand, former President of France, to plead the case. Only French lawyers are entitled to appear in the courts.

Millerand chose to try the case in Versailles, his home town, where everyone knows him, and even the Mayor testified as to the genuineness of Colby's residence there.

It was necessary to live only a few days at a hotel to establish a domicile. Then a few months were demanded and now the disposition of the court is to require full compliance with the spirit of the law.

Several Other Cases Pending. There are several pending American divorce cases in France.

One of the most famous is that of Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gros, daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, which is believed imperiled by the new attitude of the courts. Mrs. Gros has been living in Paris in her own purchased home, but has traveled considerably. Her case is regarded as important because it is understood a large financial settlement is involved.

The Colby case was the second biggest American divorce in the French courts in recent years, the most noted being the Frank T. Gould suit against Edith Colby several years ago. Former Premier Rene Viviani appeared in that case.

Text of Decision. The court's decision reads: "Whereas, a married couple Colby are both of American nationality and were married in 1915 in Massachusetts under the regime of separation of properties;

"Whereas, the French tribunals are, in principle, incompetent of acknowledging divorces between foreigners;

"Whereas, it does not appear that Mr. Colby moved his domicile to France, but that he inhabited, in fact, a house placed at his disposal by a friend in September, 1925;

"Whereas, Madame Colby resides in New York and papers for divorce were served at the Court of Procureur of Seine-et-Oise;

"For these reasons, this tribunal declares itself incompetent to pronounce the divorce of the Colbys."

Those American lawyers who took an optimistic view pointed out that other tribunals are not necessarily bound to follow the Versailles court in strict application of the principle of the laws.

Lawyers were certain also that the decision could have no effect on divorces already granted.

Bainbridge Never Gets What He Wants, Wife Says.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The New York Daily News today quotes Mrs. Bainbridge Colby, whose husband was denied a divorce in Paris, as saying: "Bainbridge never seems to get what he wants."

The Daily News also quotes Mrs. Winifred Saville Stoner, mother of Winifred Colby, as saying: "My daughter is engaged to him. It is true that he admires her."

Winifred Stoner, one-time "child prodigy," has already been married twice. She is 26 years old.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 1.—Montana will give its eight votes at the Democratic National Convention to Senator Thomas H. Walsh, Gov. John E. Erickson of Montana declared in a discussion of standard bearers in the Democratic field.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

so far as he knew, Sinclair was the largest contributor to the Republican campaign of 1920. He said, moreover, that Sinclair's generosity in turning over the $250,000 in bonds was prompted by a desire to wipe out old debts in preparation for the campaign to re-elect President Coolidge in 1924. The second contribution, that of $85,000, was made after Hays had used that amount for his personal funds in reimbursing Sinclair for the loan. He explained that Sinclair knew that he, Hays, had suffered financial losses, and did not feel that Hays should be required to pay the $185,000, and hence returned it to him.

Lost in Oil Speculation. The committee, this reporter happens to know, had information that the losses to which Hays referred, had been suffered through dealings in Sinclair stocks, following the granting of the Teapot Dome lease. Before taking the stand today, however, Hays privately pleaded with members not to examine him on that subject, on the grounds that it was a "personal matter," and the members finally agreed.

Hays is a leading elder in the Presbyterian Church, and describes himself in "Who's Who" also as a member of the laymen's committee of the National Relief and Restoration. He always has taken an exceedingly active part in church affairs, and has continued his participation since his removal to Hollywood, to direct the destinies of the film industry.

Two Men Gave $150,000. Besides Sinclair, he gave today the names of two other large contributors to the Republican deficit of 1920. They were John G. Pratt, a brother of the head of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, who gave $50,000 in addition to the amount which he had already contributed to the campaign fund, and Daniel G. Reid of Richmond, Ind., whose contribution, as Hays hazily recalled it, was $100,000.

The late D. E. Reid was a millionaire capitalist and director of the Steel Trust and the Tin Plate Trust.

Hays said he did not know, when he received the $250,000 in bonds from Sinclair, that any of them had come out of the profits of the Continental Trading Co. As a matter of fact, at least $25,000 of them are now known to have been the identical bonds purchased with the proceeds of the sale of the Continental Trading Co. ## Senate Committee Hears Hays' Story of $160,000 Gift by Sinclair to G. O. P.

O'NEIL, FUGITIVE OIL MAN, THOUGHT TO INTEND TO QUIT ITALY FOR FAR EAST

GENOA, Italy, March 1. RICHMOND of Wayne O'Neil, son of James E. O'Neil, missing witness in the Teapot Dome cases, says that his son has indicated that he intends to leave Italy shortly, going to the Far East, and although the whereabouts of his father's capital in mystery, the belief is expressed in certain quarters that he will accompany his son when he sails from here.

The villa was closed a few days ago and at that time James O'Neil was reported to be somewhere in the vicinity dodging consular officials who were trying to serve a subpoena upon him.

Two of the son's automobiles already are booked for shipment to the United States.

In preparation for the opening of the 1924 campaign," he said. "That's correct," Hays agreed. "But you were to return this $185,000 to Sinclair, were you not?"

Some Characteristic Dodging. "Then, how could it be used in paying off the debt? You couldn't return the bonds if you sold them and used the money to extinguish your notes, could you?" "We didn't intend to sell them. Perhaps I shouldn't have said they were to be used in extinguishing our debts. They were to be used as a guarantee," he countered.

Why Mr. Hays? "Why Mr. Hays?" exclaimed Walsh in exasperation. "These debts had been running on for three years. What was the necessity of new collateral? How would new collateral help up the situation in preparation for the 1924 campaign?"

Hays said it "would relieve the pressure of the situation," but he added directly if any of the banks which had lent money were pressing for collateral, admitted he did not know of any.

It was characteristic of his answers throughout.

Again, Hays' description of the Pratt transaction was furtive and puzzling. First, he sent $50,000 of the Sinclair bonds to Pratt. "To be used in clearing up the situation as it might be."

Later, he went to Pratt and persuaded him to make a donation of $50,000. Pratt wrote a check for that amount and Hays sent it to Sinclair, as collateral repayment on the $150,000 loan.

He also returned to Sinclair $50,000 of the original bonds. This left $85,000 of the Sinclair loan outstanding.

Hays explained that he sent $50,000 of the bonds to Upham, and $25,000 to Secretary Weeks. It was understood, however, that Hays was to raise the equivalent of that amount, in order to repay Sinclair.

"I found myself unable to raise it," he said. "Being obligated to Mr. Sinclair, I finally sent him $85,000 in my own personal checks and securities. He kept them for several months and then returned them to me. He knew that I had suffered financial losses, and he did not feel that I should be called on to pay that amount, so he simply added the $85,000 to his original contribution."

Doesn't Know About Bonds. "But what did Mr. Upham and Secretary Weeks do with the bonds you sent them?" asked Senator Walsh. "I can't tell you that; I don't know."

"But what in heaven's name could they do with them, except sell them, and apply the proceeds on the debts?" exclaimed Walsh, at the end of his patience. "I can't tell you what was done with them, Senator."

"Very well, Mr. Hays," said Walsh grimly. "Let me ask you if it is not a fact that Mr. Upham took the $50,000 in bonds which you sent him, distributed them around Chicago in lots of $1000 to $10,000 among persons who sold the bonds, and returned the proceeds to Upham as personal cash contributions?" "It that happened, I do not know of it," was the reply.

Hays, twisting restlessly in his chair, had bitten his lip until it bled, and when he dabbed a handkerchief to his mouth, it came away spotted with crimson.

"I suppose it would surprise you to learn that that is exactly what Mr. Upham did," Walsh pursued. "Senator, it would surprise me."

Thereupon Walsh, reading from Upham's official report of contributions, pointed out that in the few weeks following the receipt of the bonds from Hays, Upham received numerous contributions of $1000, $5000 and $10,000 from persons in Chicago, the total reaching approximately $50,000.

Didn't Volunteer Information. "When you were on the stand four years ago, you made no reference to the additional $185,000 in bonds which you received from Sinclair," Walsh pointed out.

"No, Senator, I wasn't asked about it, and I did not volunteer it. At that time, I regarded the $185,000 as a loan, which was to be repaid. It was subsequent to my testifying that Mr. Sinclair added $85,000 to his previous contribution of $100,000."

Asked to name the exact date of this contribution, Hays could only locate it as "some time about 1925," in other words, this contribution from Sinclair to the Republican party was accepted after it was known that Sinclair had bribed Fall, after the existence of the Continental Trading Co. had been exposed, and after Sinclair's associates in the Continental deal had fled from the country to avoid testifying.

Walsh wanted to know the physical details of the delivery of the $250,000 in bonds to Hays by Sinclair, but the witness was singularly hazy. "It was in New York," he said, "but whether at my office or Mr. Sinclair's, I can't recall."

"Was any record made of the transaction?" "No."

"How did you convey the bonds to Pratt, Upham and Secretary Weeks?" "I don't recall whether they were handed or sent. Probably sent."

"Then you probably have some correspondence on the subject?" "No, I don't, Senator," was the hasty reply.

"Would Mr. Upham's book show the receipt and disposition of the bonds?" "I don't know."

"Has there been any since Mr. Upham's death?" "I don't know."

"Well, who succeeded him as treasurer of the National Committee?" Hays replied that William W. Hodges of Denver did.

Walsh Tried Vainly to Elicit from the witness the conversation which passed between him and Pratt when the bonds were transmitted. Hays insisted he could recall "no details."

Hays was chewing at his lower lip with the rapid nibbling motion of a squirrel. He continually glanced from side to side as he leaned forward anxiously across the table.

"How did you arrive at the figure of $185,000?" Walsh inquired. "I do not know," he replied. "It had been $150,000 or $200,000, I might appear to have been an estimate." "That's what it was, Senator," Hays smiled ingratiatingly.

"Yes, but how did you arrive at it?" Hays finally admitted. "Perhaps on the needs of the situation as Mr. Upham had outlined them to me, but I can't recall definitely."

"You made no official report of the transaction?" "I have no position to make official reports; I was acting in a private capacity."

"Didn't you feel under any obligation to see that the treasurer made a report, as he was supposed to?" "I supposed Mr. Upham would report all contributions that he received."

"Was there any other contribution as liberal as Mr. Sinclair's?" "Yes, I think so."

"Just give us the list of those who gave as much as $160,000, then?"

Hays hummed and hawed, and at length said Reid had given or "guaranteed" $100,000.

"That is considerably short of Mr. Sinclair's gift. Can you name anyone who gave as much as he did?" Hays finally admitted. "I know of no contribution which equaled Sinclair's."

Explaining how the funds for the 1920 campaign were originally collected, Hays said the episode of the West Coast drive, which was a Red Cross drive, was a county chairman, and quotes it and it was well organized all over the country.

Expense Spoiled the Drive. The drive was punctured, however, he went on by the investigation of campaign expenditures conducted in 1920 by a Senate committee on which were Senators McNamara and Reed of New York. This was the investigation which disclosed the scheme and which had been used in the attempt to nominate Gen. Leonard Wood, and the episode of the West Coast drive, which was a Red Cross drive, was a county chairman, and quotes it and it was well organized all over the country.

"I do know, however, that Mr. Harry F. Sinclair did turn over to me for the benefit of the Republican National Committee, in connection with the deficit, a certain amount of Government bonds, and these bonds may or may not have been originally in the possession of the Continental Trading Co."

The $185,000 in bonds, besides the $75,000 which Sinclair gave the committee, were returned, but Sinclair later gave back $35,000. Hays said, making his total contribution $160,000. It had been previously disclosed that Sinclair had contributed $75,000.

Telling of his personal appeal to Sinclair for funds for the committee, the former chairman said Sinclair had told him he would make a personal contribution, which he thought should not exceed $75,000.

"He also said he would turn over to me approximately $185,000 in Government bonds in addition to his contribution for such use as might become necessary upon my assurance that he would be repaid the total amount advanced in excess of the $75,000 contribution," Hays continued. "Both the $75,000 and the $185,000 were, I think, in Government bonds. A portion of the $185,000 of Government bonds was used as hereinafter stated and this advancement along with contributions by many others, enabled the treasurer to announce to the committee at the December meeting that the indebtedness was provided for."

"So far as I know no record was made of the numbers of these bonds or even of their particular issue."

"Seventy-five thousand dollars worth of the bonds constituting Mr. Sinclair's personal contribution were applied on the committee's indebtedness at the Empire Trust Co. of New York, through the chairman of its board, Gen. T. Coleman du Pont."

"Fifty thousand dollars of the original $185,000 received from Mr. Sinclair were returned by me to Mr. Sinclair."

"Of the remaining $135,000, I delivered to Mr. John T. Pratt of New York, to the best of my recollection, $50,000, at about which time he placed in the hands of the committee $50,000, in addition to amounts he had previously contributed."

"Later I asked Mr. Pratt to add that sum to his previous contribution. To this he agreed and delivered to me $50,000 in Government bonds, but I had no knowledge as to whether they were the same bonds I had previously delivered to him. These bonds in any case were given by me to Mr. Sinclair."

"Of the approximately $85,000 remaining, I delivered $25,000 to Secretary John W. Weeks of Boston, to be used by him in his efforts to raise money for the deficit and they were used by him for that purpose."

"The approximately $60,000 remaining I delivered to Mr. Fred W. Upham of Chicago, for the same purpose, and they were used by him for that purpose."

Sinclair Gives Back $85,000. "Consequently, I lacked approximately $85,000 with which to repay Mr. Sinclair the entire $185,000. I felt bound to reimburse Mr. Sinclair in full and I did so, hoping at the time that I could get some further help later from others, but this did not materialize. I had suffered financial losses, of which Mr. Sinclair knew. He did not feel that I should bear this burden personally, and he voluntarily returned the $85,000 of securities which I had caused to be delivered to him."

"These securities did not comprise any of the Government bonds originally delivered by Mr. Sinclair to me. The securities which he returned were the identical securities which I sent to him. I simply had not succeeded in raising the entire amount and made it up personally."

Director in Baking Combine. Out of a clear sky Walsh asked Hays if he had ever been a director in the Continental Baking Co. This company, it has been explained, escaped prosecution in the notorious bread trust case through the curious juggling act performed by Assistant Attorney-General Abram F. Myers, who has since been promoted by President Coolidge to the position of Federal Trade Commissioner.

"I still am a director in it," was Hays' startled reply.

"Were you a director at the time that the proceedings against it were dismissed by the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission?" Hays said he didn't think he was.

Hays has been credited with procuring Myers' promotion to the Federal Trade Commission. He was not asked about that by the committee, but after he left the stand the Post-Dispatch correspondent asked him if it was true. Hays said he had not recommended Myers.

"Well, he is the man who has been making all the fuss about the motion picture industry," he laughed, slapping the correspondent jovially on the shoulder. It was suggested that Myers had made considerable fuss, but had made very little trouble for the industry.

"Well, I didn't have anything to do with his appointment," Hays reiterated.

Hays' Prepared Statement. In beginning his testimony Hays read a prepared statement.

"I desire to say at the outset," Hays said, "that the only information that has come to my knowledge about any Government bonds owned by the Continental Trading Co. ever having been used for the benefit of the Republican National Committee is the report from the investigation of this committee. I did not know of the existence of the Continental Trading Co. at the time I assisted in raising the deficit of the Republican National Committee and first heard of it in the public reports of the trial in Cheyenne, Wyo."

on the books of Thompson's personal family corporation as a loan to Dodge," the witness said.

Going into minute detail of repayments to Thompson, as Dodge by the Republican National Committee, Wallace said Dodge records showed that as the National Committee repaid him he drew checks to Thompson's credit in the amounts received from the political organization.

Wallace disclosed that before the National Committee made the final payment of $127,500 on the notes, Thompson gave the committee $40,000, which the witness said unquestionably came from Thompson's private funds as evidenced by a check made payable to James G. Blaine, Eastern treasurer of the Republican National Committee.

"Were any of the payments in the form of Liberty bonds?" asked Senator Walsh (Dem.), Montana, the committee prosecutor.

"No, sir," the witness replied.

Wallace testified that Thompson was a director in one of Sinclair oil companies, but resigned and sold his stock in October, 1921.

"He also had no transactions with the Republican National Committee after Jan. 12, 1922," Wallace said, adding also in reply to Chairman Nye, that Thompson knew nothing about the Continental Trading Co.

$196,000 of Bonds Sinclair Got

Full Transcript to Continental Co. WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Government's special counsel in the Teapot Dome case has traced $196,000 of the $233,000 in Liberty bonds which went from Harry Sinclair to Albert B. Fall, director of the account of the Continental Trading Company, the Senate Committee was informed today.

George Chandler of Philadelphia, who is associated with the company, said the bonds had been bought for the account of the Continental a week after the loss of Teapot Dome to Sinclair and a month later were being sold in the open market.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 1.—Except for a few odds and ends of unfinished business, the Madison County liquor conspiracy trial, called before United States District Judge Fitzherry Monday with 93 defendants in the courtroom, ended today with the imposition of sentences upon the remainder of the 93 defendants who pleaded guilty.

This morning the Court sentenced 32 defendants to whom some could not get yesterday afternoon. Among them were Constable John Kuneman of Woodville, who got four months in jail and a fine of $400, and Constable Charles King Thompson, of Hartford, who got $200 and three months.

Total Guilty Pleas 69.

Originally, 72 defendants had entered pleas of guilty. Today, however, the Government entered a plea of guilty for the cases of Lorraine Robinson and Jim Palazzolo, who had previously pleaded guilty; and Henry Schuchman, who also pleaded guilty, was allowed to withdraw his plea and declare himself not guilty. So that the total of guilty pleas came down to 69.

Yesterday afternoon, after the 72 pleas of guilty had been entered, the Government entered a plea of guilty for the cases of Lorraine Robinson and Jim Palazzolo, who had previously pleaded guilty; and Henry Schuchman, who also pleaded guilty, was allowed to withdraw his plea and declare himself not guilty. So that the total of guilty pleas came down to 69.

SAVINGS LOAN FIRM

State Closes Commerce Association — Liabilities Exceed Assets.

On discovery by a State examiner that the assets of the Commerce and Savings Loan Association were almost $16,000 less than its liabilities, State Supervisor McCoy today took charge of the firm's offices in the Holland Building and announced he would ask court permission to wind up its affairs.

McCoy, who will ask that he be named receiver, said more than $16,000 would be lost by the more than 200 shareholders. The concern is the first building and loan association in St. Louis to fail in 26 years, and the second to fail in Missouri within the same period.

Examiner Sam Sharp ascertained the firm's assets were $51,177 and its liabilities $66,036. He was assisted in his examination by John P. McDermott, president, Scott A. Wallace, secretary and Edward J. Cunningham, treasurer, who have transacted no business since their election to office last December.

The last semi-annual report, made Aug. 31, showed a surplus of $34,000, which the examiner could not find. Complaints had been made to Supervisor McCoy and the Better Business Bureau that the company was not paying dividends although it said it was in a going condition.

Joseph Ward, a highway policeman, testified Reed told him he had never intended to marry Miss Bradford.

Grouped behind Miss Bradford today were her father, the Rev. Herbert Bradford, retired Presbyterian minister; her mother, and her sister, Mrs. Clegg.

Half a dozen witnesses were placed on the stand during the morning to describe the scene at the schoolhouse the morning following the explosion, when Reed made his second confession. All had been heard before in the absence of the jury, while Judges Hayes was deciding whether to admit the confessions.

SCHOOL BOMBING
CONFESSION READ
TO JURY BY STATE

Hiram Reed, Accused of Trying to Kill Girl, Told in Document of Putting Dynamite in Stove.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Ill., March 1.—His first confession, in which Hiram Reed admitted dynamiting the Pleasant Valley schoolhouse, was offered today by the State in its fight to convict the young farmer on a bombing charge. After the confession had been read to the jury, the State rested its case.

The prosecution won a three-day fight when Judge Frank Hayes ruled that Reed's confessions were admissible. The third one, made in the State's Attorney's office, was read to the jury late yesterday.

In the confession offered today, Hiram told of going to see Iola Bradford, young teacher, who was severely injured by the explosion of her school stove, the night of Nov. 30. She was in bed, but got up and dressed. He was living with her sister, Mrs. Howard Clegg.

Tells of Visiting Girl.

"I told her I had sent her a ring from Peoria," Reed said in the confession, "and I asked if it had come yet. This was not true, as I had not sent her a ring. I had previously told her I would marry her on Sunday, Dec. 4. Outside in my car I had a stick and a half of dynamite which I intended to place in the stove of the schoolhouse where she teaches."

"This school is about half a block from where she lives. When I left Iola I went to the schoolhouse and broke in the front door with a screw driver. I had the dynamite wrapped in a paper."

"I had a fuse about 10 inches long, and a dynamite cap attached to the dynamite. I tied the dynamite to the top of the stove on the inside with a piece of string. I intended that the dynamite would explode when the stove was started by Iola the next morning."

"After placing the dynamite in the stove I went to my home about 2:30 a. m. Thursday. I bought the dynamite at Dooley Bros. Mining Supply Store in Peoria about two months ago. My folks did not know I purchased the dynamite."

"I knew Iola was expecting to become a mother, and that I was responsible for her condition. I planned on putting the dynamite in the stove a couple of days ago. I knew she was the one that started the fire in that stove each morning."

"The only promise made to me by the State's Attorney is if Iola Bradford marries me before the next grand jury meets this morning, I will not be used against me in any charge affecting her. If she does not marry me, this statement may be used against me."

LINDBERGH TO GET
$25,000 PEACE
AWARD AND MEDAL

Woodrow Wilson Foundation Recognizes Value of Flights in Improving International Good Will.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The name of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today was inscribed alongside those of Viscount Cecil of England and Elihu Root as recipient of the Woodrow Wilson Peace Award.

The $25,000 award and the Woodrow Wilson medal was unanimously voted America's "Ambassador of Good Will" by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation for his contributions to international friendship.

Viscount Cecil was given the first award in 1924 "for meritorious service of a public character tending to the establishment of peace through justice."

There was no award in 1925 but in 1926 Elihu Root was the recipient for his work in helping to establish the World Court.

No award was made in 1927, the foundation instead holding a prize contest for essays on "What Woodrow Wilson Means to Me." The two first prizes of $25,000 each, however, were not given because the judging committee believed none of the essays submitted merited that distinction.

The award to Col. Lindbergh was made, the announcement said, because his flights have brought new and better spirit into the relations of the United States with its Latin-American neighbors.

Just when the presentation is to be made has not been decided.

LIES IN STATE AT OLD HOME

Funeral of Brewer, Widow of Be Held at 2 O'Clock Tomorrow Afternoon.

The body of Mrs. Lily Busch, widow of Adolphus Busch, St. Louis brewer, is lying, surrounded by flowers, in her old home, 1 Busch place, where friends and employees of Anheuser-Busch Inc. may call today and tomorrow, in advance of the funeral, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The body arrived on a private train from Chicago, where Mrs. Busch died in her winter home last Saturday. The pallbearers met the train at Union Station and escorted the casket to the residence. They were six grandsons of Mrs. Busch—Adolphus Busch III, August A. Busch Jr., Edward Magnus, Lester B. Faust, Curt Reisinger and Walter Reisinger—and four granddaughters—Dorothy Jones, Percy Orthwein, Louis Hager and Mahlon B. Wallace.

Company employees, neighbors, friends and relatives will attend the service at the home tomorrow, which will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. William L. Sullivan of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah. There will be vocal and instrumental music, interment, in the family mausoleum in Bellefontaine Cemetery, will be private.

When the casket was taken from the car at the station this morning, the platform was heavily banked with flowers which accompanied it from Pasadena, including many from the famous Busch gardens there.

"Always The Same" says Pipe-Smoker

Charles, S. C. February 10, 1927

Larus & Bro. Co.,
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

I've done a lot of pipe smoking. There's hardly a brand or a blend that I haven't tried out at some time or other.

But speaking of smoking tobacco that brings real enjoyment, and never changes, I want to say that there is no other tobacco that gives me real enjoyment in my pipe—Edgeworth.

I have used Edgeworth Ready Rubbed and Plug Slice for over five years, in all climates and under all conditions, and I find it always the same. It is always mellow and moist, and its genuine flavor lasts. There is no bite or parch in Edgeworth, and the quality, whether you buy it in small or large quantities, is always perfect.

Thanks to the manufacturers for their wonderful product, and I hope that Edgeworth can always be obtained by the undersigned.

BEDS TO FIT THEM; TO FORM SOCIETY

St. Louis Chapter Will Be Organized to Get More Room for Long Fellows.

Longer Pullman berths, hotel beds and coffins, roomier automobiles and clothes, taller doors and higher ceilings—that's the program of the National Society of Long Fellows, which will organize a St. Louis chapter at a dinner tomorrow night at the American Hotel.

Men and women more than six feet tall are eligible for membership. They are pledged to stand together for the creature comforts denied persons of unusual height or corpulence by commercial standards which fit the average mortal.

The National Society was formed 10 months at Topeka, Kan. Among the St. Louisans already interested are Carl F. Meyer, president of Meyer Brothers Drug Co., Charles Wyant, local representative of Eckels & Co., Philadelphia; and S. W. Harris of 2029 Bellevue avenue, temporary president of the local chapter. They assert St. Louisans are growing taller.

They point out that the educational campaign of the Long Fellows already has yielded results. Casket manufacturers and clothiers have promised extra large sizes. The Stevens Hotel in Chicago has equipped a whole floor with extra size beds and bed clothing. An automobile firm has announced especially roomy cars for tall or very fat drivers. The St. Louis chapter, it is said, will work for more general concessions to tall people.

ONLY $775 IN CASH STOLEN AT WEBSTER GROVES BANK

Cashier of Old Orchard Depository Had First Estimated Loot at $3000.

A thorough check of cash taken by three robbers who held up the Old Orchard State Bank in Webster Groves shortly after noon yesterday disclosed that only $775 was missing. After the holdup Cashier W. F. Barth told reporters that it seemed from the first clearing of the bank had lost about $3000.

Webster Groves police are investigating the burning of a small touring car at Sanguinet avenue and Iola drive, some distance from the bank, shortly after the holdup. It is thought the robbers may have escaped in this machine or else used it to divert police from the robbery investigation.

LEAPS SEVEN STORIES TO DEATH

Charles J. Samstag Had Been Under Treatment in Miami, Fla.

MIAMI, Fla., March 1.—Charles J. Samstag of St. Louis this afternoon leaped to his death from the seventh floor of a downtown building. J. B. Cone, investigator for the State's Attorney, reported the death as suicide. Samstag had been under treatment for a malignant ailment.

The name of Charles J. Samstag does not appear in the St. Louis city directory.

66 FEWER SMOKE OFFENDERS

Commissioner Gordon Reports Progress in February.

Smoke Commissioner Gordon reported today that 54 smoke offenders had been cleared up during February at the instigation of city inspectors, making the total for the last two years 1856.

Thirty-two of the February list were industrial plants, 19 were apartments, four bakeries and one a church and school. Thirty-three were induced to change fuel from coal to coke, 11 installed new furnace equipment, 11 used chimneys and one turned from use of soft coal to oil.

LINDBERGH FLIES TO BOSTON AND MEETS MOTHER

She Greets Son in Hangar
When He Arrives to Attend Teachers' Event Arranged in Her Honor.

FLYER URGES STUDY OF AERONAUTICS

Advocates Inclusion of Course in Schools and More Attention to Modern Languages.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, March 1.—Col. Charles
A. Lindbergh landed at the Boston Airport at 10:53 a. m. today after a flight from Schenectady, N.
Y.

In the monoplane with Lindbergh were Maj. William Robertson and
H. M. Bigby of St. Louis, and Uly S. Hill, manager of an Albany theater.

Lindbergh made a perfect landing directly in front of the army headquarters building at the airport. He was greeted by Lieut.
Reginald D. Thomas, commander of the Squantum Air Station; Capt.
Albert Heisen of the Boston airport and George H. Johnson, representing the city. He remained in his plane for a few minutes, then jumped out and went into the army building, where he stayed for some time.

While he was in the army building his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, Detroit high school teacher, arrived at the field.
She went into the building and remained for five minutes, then was driven away. Her son's visit here was for the purpose of being present tonight at a meeting of the Department of Superintendents of the National Education Association, when Mrs. Lindbergh is to be given a gold key emblematic of life membership in the association.

Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the Boston Navy Yard, called for Lindbergh and took him to the Navy Yard. Later, Col. Lindbergh came into the city and went to the Copley-Plaza Hotel for luncheon.

Lindbergh spoke briefly at the luncheon, which was arranged by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund Committee.

Pointing to the important part which aviation will take in the lives of future generations, Lindbergh advocated the teaching of elementary aeronautics in the elementary schools. He referred to the intimate connection of aviation with other subjects of study, particularly geography and modern languages. Lindbergh is to be given a gold key emblematic of life membership in the association.

Lindbergh Discusses Air Legislation Before New York Meeting.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 1.—With the help of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and many other men of national note in the flying world, a movement was started in Albany yesterday to have New York State lead the way in enactment of flying laws, which it is hoped will be adopted by all states.

Col. Lindbergh flew to Albany to promote the cause. So did Lieut.
Lester J. Maitland, who made the first trans-Pacific flight to Honolulu. In honor of their appearance the two houses of the Legislature, for the first time since the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia in 1905, met in joint session to hear addresses from men who have no part in the government of the State.

Senators and Assemblymen joined in a demonstration which developed into a contest as to which could yell the loudest and toss the highest in the air some thousands of defunct bills, torn into small pieces.

Col. Lindbergh, called on the Governor immediately after his arrival, accompanied by Senator Griswold Webb, Assemblyman
Shank, Assistant Secretary of War Truette Davidson and several other members of the flying party. They witnessed there the signing of the first New York State air bill, one permitting the municipalities of the State to establish and operate air ports. The Governor then presented Lindbergh with the pen.

Two other bills are being presented as a part of the national program. The first provides that all those who fly in New York State shall be equipped with Federal licenses and that their machines shall come up to the Federal standards. The second creates a legislative commission of three Senators and five Assemblymen, with an appropriation of $25,000 to study the needs of commercial aviation within the State.

Uniformity of Laws Sought.
These propositions, but more particularly the measure which was signed today and the bill covering operators and machines, are put forth as desirable standards for all states. The idea is to secure uniformity in aircraft legislation. The reasons were succinctly stated by Col. Lindbergh in his address to the joint assembly.

ARMLESS AND LEGLESS MAN INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

NEW LONDON, Mo., March 1.— Rodney Eliza of New London, an armless and legless man who earns his living by traveling with carnivals, was knocked unconscious and bruised about the face and head in an automobile accident Friday night.

Eliza's driver, who was blinded by the lights of an approaching car, struck a bridge. Eliza being thrown from the machine. He was taken to a hospital, and later to his home, where he is recovering.
Eliza was born in Audrain County, near Mexico, Mo., in September, 1882. He lived in New London most of his life, until he went on the road. On his travels he is generally accompanied by his mother.

Boulder Dam Amendment Rejected
WASHINGTON, March 1.—Getting down to the voting stage, the Senate Irrigation Committee today rejected, 6 to 4, an amendment to the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon Dam bill, under which the Secretary of the Interior would have been required to endeavor to contract with states, municipalities, individuals or corporations for constructing a power plant before he proceeded to act.

Madden Dry Bill Reported.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Madden bill to give the Commissioner of Prohibition authority to advance funds to Federal agents to procure evidence in the enforcement of the narcotic laws was reported today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

MONTH OF DISCUSSION OF NO-PARKING BILL

Traffic Body of Safety Council Then Will Decide Its Attitude.

Members of the Traffic Committee of the Safety Council will discuss the pending ordinance for prohibition of parking on principal downtown streets with the various organizations they represent during the next month, after which the committee will decide whether to endorse or oppose the measure.

The bill was introduced in the Board of Aldermen at the request of Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, but is dormant in the board's Legislative Committee while awaiting word from the Safety Council Group. The Council's Traffic Committee discussed the proposal at Hotel Statler yesterday.

C. E. Williams, representative of the Downtown Improvement Association, suggested at the meeting that hearings be held to determine the attitude of various interests affected. These include real estate men, bankers, and downtown merchants belonging to Williams' organization and to the Associated Retailers, he said.

"No executive of the city, in office only for a time, can dump a measure of this kind into the Board of Aldermen without talking it over with property owners affected," Williams declared, adding that no arbitrary action should be taken. F. Z. Salomon, general manager of Famous-Barr and spokesman for the Associated Retailers, was unable to state whether he would favor the proposal without further investigation, but asserted that merchants in the Chicago loop district, where daytime parking recently was prohibited, were "hammer and tong" against the rule.

The St. Louis bill would prohibit all parking, except brief periods for commercial vehicles, in Washington avenue, Locust, Olive, Pine and Chestnut streets, between Fourth street and Twelfth boulevard, from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m., and also in the block of Washington between Third and Fourth streets.

A subcommittee of the Traffic Committee was appointed yesterday to consider a proposed ordinance to regulate pedestrian traffic, by requiring walkers to obey signals of traffic policemen and automatic signs and by giving them right of way over cross walks upon signaling with upflitted hand.

JOHN BARRYMORE, WHO WINS MOVIE FIGHTS, LOSES REAL ONE

Film Agent Says He and Actor Traded Pitches on Hotel Lawn for 10 Minutes.

By the Associated Press. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 1.—John Barrymore, hero of many stage and screen duels, today was in seclusion, it was said, as the result of being the loser in a "real fight" which lasted about 10 minutes on the lawn of the Ambassador Hotel Saturday night.

Myron Selznick, film agent, who said he had resented Barrymore's "starring remarks" about his nationality, gave his opinion that the actor would not be seen in public "for at least several days."

At the motion picture studio which features Barrymore in the films, it was declared that the actor left on Monday for a movie location. His friends reported him missing, and neither the actor nor his representatives issued any denial of the fist fight or Selznick's account of it.

On the night the Wampas hall was being attended by filmdom's elite at the Ambassador, Selznick said he was holding a supper party when Owen Moore, also of the screen, called for him. Moore told Selznick he was wanted by Lionel Barrymore to discuss a business matter. Lionel's brother, John, also was at the hotel bungalow where Selznick declared John Barrymore made the stirring remarks about his race.

Moore declined to comment on the affair.

TWO YOUTHS GET 10 YEARS IN PRISON FOR DAIRY ROBBERIES

Joseph Potts and W. J. Little Plead Guilty to Holdups Netting $5000 Loot.

Joseph Potts, 19 years old, 1124 Talmadge street, and William J. Little, 22, 3443 Koeln street, were sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Rutledge today, following their pleas of guilty to two dairy robberies in which the loot was more than $5000.

Judge Rutledge sentenced the youths to 10 years in the penitentiary on each of the two indictments, but permitted the terms to run concurrently. Four other men are under indictment for the first robbery, among them Thomas Fleming and Otto Johns, also under indictment for the second robbery.

The first crime was on Aug. 29, 1927, when several men held up the Union branch of the Pevely Dairy Co. at 5211 Margaretta avenue, and stole $1115 from the cashbox. On Oct. 6, with two other men, Potts and Little also were involved in the holdup of the St. Louis Dairy Co. branch at 2119 North Kingshighway, in which $2394.59 was stolen.

Smith O. K.'d in Connection. By the Associated Press. NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 1.—The Democratic State Central Committee today voted unanimously in favor of a motion that "this committee endorse the suggestion that Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York be nominated for President by the Democratic National Convention."

Two Arrested in Stolen Auto.
Two youths riding in an automobile on which were stolen license plates were arrested by detectives last night at East Grand avenue and Broadway. One of the youths, who is being held, said he had stolen the machine several evenings ago from near Kingshighway and Delmar boulevard, the detectives reported. The machine belongs to Harold Wrape, 5564 Delmar boulevard.

The youth, according to the detectives, also admitted having stolen several other machines and confessed he is at liberty on bond on a burglary charge brought against him in St. Louis County.

FILES $1,100,000 SUIT FOR OIL STOCK SALE

Emmet Queen Seeks Commission from Banking Firm on Deal Made in 1919.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 1.—Emmet Queen, Singer building, has a $1,100,000 suit pending against Clarence Dillon and other partners in the banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co. for commissions and interest for Queen's part in the sale in 1919 of $40,000 shares of Pure Oil Co. stock to the Ohio Cities Gas Co. It was disclosed yesterday in Supreme Court.

Beman Gates Dawes, president of the Pure Oil Co., brother of Vice President Dawes, is accused in the complaint of having aided in evading the payment of commissions.

On Dec. 9, 1919, Queen won a jury verdict at Mays Landing, N. J., for $500,000 against Edward H. Jennings, who was the Pure Oil president when the stock was sold to the Ohio Cities concern. This was reversed and a settlement made. The allegation was substantially the same as in the present action—that payment of the commissions to Queen for negotiating the sale was evaded by having A. Read & Co., which was the predecessor of Dillon-Read, "go over Mr. Queen's head" in financing the purchase.

The suit against the Dillon-Read partners was reopened yesterday when Roland L. Taylor, one of the defendants, obtained an order from Justice Delehanty rescinding Taylor's previous default of an answer. Queen's allegation is that when he arranged to receive $1 commission for the sale of the Pure Oil stock he negotiated with the Read company but failed to reach an agreement on price. Then, the complaint alleges, Dawes, ostensibly representing the Ohio Cities company, negotiated with the Pure Oil stockholders directly and the stock was sold.

The defendants in Queen's suit are Taylor, Robert W. Martin, Joseph H. Seaman, John W. Borner Jr., James Dean, W. L. Lindaley Flake and Nigel L. Campbell. They announced last night that the answer to Queen's charges would be a denial.

Westinghouse Motor Built-in-the-Head

The Westinghouse motor built-in-the-head is only to be found in the Machines made by the Free Company. You will readily agree that this built-in principle is much better than the kind that is built on the outside of an ordinary foot-power sewing machine head. Examine this feature for a clearer understanding.

Walnut Finish

You will find this one of the most attractive Sewing Machines you have ever seen—double swinging doors with burl walnut effect—hand-turned legs, soft, porous hand-rubbed walnut finish. When closed the machine is thirty inches long and eighteen inches wide. It opens into a table thirty by thirty-six or 1080 sq. in. sewing space.

Attachments

The speed is regulated by a patented adjustable control which will operate the speed from one to eight hundred stitches a minute. A full set of attachments for all kinds of fancy sewing is included. Free instruction in their use. Needles, bobbins, oil can, as well as all other necessary accessories for the use of the machine.

Fifteen-Year Guarantee

Fully guaranteed for fifteen years against defects of any kind. This means that should any part break because of defective construction it will be repaired without cost to you. One year free adjustment service. This guarantee is made by the maker and Scruggs-Vanderwoort-Barney.

Out-of-Town Customers

The Machine operates on AC or DC 110 volt current. If you have this voltage and desire to take advantage of this very unusual value write the mail order department stating how you would like to buy the machine and all arrangements will be made. We have reserved a small number and suggest your writing at once.

STATE REJECTS VALUE SET ON WATER PLANT

Appraisal Made by Jefferson City Officials for Rate-Making Is Cut $80,000.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 1.—The State Public Service Commission today rejected an agreement made between city officials of Jefferson City and the Capital City Water Co. that $525,000 was a fair rate-making valuation for the company property, and fixed the valuation at $745,000, a reduction of $80,000. The commission rejected the agreed figure on the ground it was not the present fair value of the property.

The commission's order authorized the water company to increase rates in Jefferson City 27½ per cent. based on the showing of its earnings, but at the same time reduced the return it is entitled to earn from 8 per cent to 7½ per cent. The ½ per cent allowance was made in a valuation case in 1925. The rate increase is effective April 1.

The agreed valuation was condemned as unreasonable in the commission order, which stated, "There is absolutely no reasonable basis or fact upon which such valuation can be supported, and we are unable to find any line of reasoning which, as applied to the evidence before us, lead to a result as high as this suggested value."

The agreement was made while an application by the company for a rate increase was pending before the commission. The agreement was put in evidence, along with testimony of engineers for the company the city and the commission. The company contended the valuation was $880,000 as of last June 30. The engineers employed by the city placed the valuation at $745,000.

The valuation for rate-making purposes be $825,000.

Their report was based in the reproduction new theory, alone. The Commission only allowed $65,000 for going value.

Was I Ever
That Fat?

She reduced in this easy way

A large percentage of the over-fat have lost that excess in late years. Abnormal figures are exceptions now. People all about you have learned by experience how easy it is to reduce.

The modern way is Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others, and the use has spread. Now slender figures everywhere show what Marmola does.

Marmola supplies a substance which largely controls nutrition. It aims to increase the factor which turns food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. There are no secrets about it. The formula appears in every box, and explains the results. This to avoid any fear of harm.

No abnormal exercise or diet is required, though moderation helps. One simply takes four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal.

Go let Marmola do for you what it has done for so many. Watch the results in new beauty, new vitality, new health. Then tell your friends who stand in. Order now, before you forget it, and learn what folly it is to stay fat.

Marmola's prescription tablets are sold by all druggists and health food stores. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his supplier.

ACCORD REACHED ON TANGIER

France and Spain to Submit Agreement to Britain and Italy.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 1.—France and Spain finally have reached an agreement on the Tangier Statute. It is probable that the Spanish Ambassador, Senor Quinones de Leon and Aristides Briand, French Foreign Minister, who have concluded a definite agreement, will sign it before Briand's departure for Geneva. It then will be submitted to the Italian and British governments for their ratification. Conversations between the representatives of the four powers will take place at Paris. Briand will submit the terms of the agreement to the Cabinet Saturday.

$325,000,000 FOR FLOOD CONTROL IN NEW SENATE BILL

Measure Based on Jadwin Plan for Spillways Introduced by Jones of Washington.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Senate received from its Commerce Committee yesterday a flood control bill incorporating engineering features of the administration, or Jadwin plan, providing $325,000,000 for Federal payment of construction cost, but leaving to a commission the determination of how much interested communities shall pay of that sum.

The bill, bearing the name of Senator Jones (Rep.), Washington, chairman of the committee, while recommending the construction plan of Major-General Jadwin, chief of army engineers, also leaves to the commission final determination whether that plan or another put forward by the Mississippi River commission, or a combination of both, will be adopted. The committee recommended the creation of a commission of three as suggested by President Coolidge and the members, the army chief of engineers, the president of the Mississippi commission, and a civil engineer to be appointed by the President, would render final judgment on both the financial and engineering phases of the projects.

Differs From House Bill.
The commission would decide after a survey how much and when the affected states would pay toward the construction cost but in the meantime the control work would get underway at Federal expense.

Under the Jones bill as it now stands and until the commission should decide that communities must pay their share of the cost, the Government would bear the entire burden, except that the communities would furnish levee rights of way not already acquired and pay one-third of the agreed cost to bring the levees up to the 1914 standard.

The Jones bill differs from the Reid legislation introduced in the House, in that the House Committee recommended an appropriation of $475,000,000 and the enlargement of the Mississippi River Commission to 13 members. Five of these members would be selected from the engineer corps of the army, one from the Coast and Geodetic Survey and seven from civil life.

Adopts Jadwin Plan.
The measure introduced in the Senate provides that the Secretary of War engage the services of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Geological Survey or other mapping agencies of the Government shall be used by the Mississippi River Commission under direction of the Secretary of War and supervision of the army chief of engineers.

The Jones bill confines itself to the adoption of the Jadwin plan in the following language: "That the project for flood control the Mississippi River and its alluvial valley and for its improvement from the head of passes to the mouth of the Ohio River, in accordance with the engineering plan set forth and recommended in the report submitted by the chief of engineers to the Secretary of War dated Dec. 1, 1917, and printed in House document No. 96, Seventieth Congress, first session, is hereby adopted and authorized to be prosecuted under the direction of the Secretary of War and the supervision of the chief of engineers."

Commission to Decide.
The board suggested by the President and recommended by the committee, would be directed to consider the engineering differences between the details of the adopted project and those recommended by the Mississippi River Commission. It is provided that after such study, decisions upon all matters considered by the commission would be followed in carrying out the project.

Principal features of the administration plan as reported by Gen. Jadwin, relating to engineering call for the widening of the Mississippi River for the protection of the city of Cairo, Ill., construction of a flood way through the Atchafalaya basin for diversion of waters south of the mouth of the Arkansas River and construction of a spillway to Bonnet Carré for the protection of New Orleans. The plan also contemplates strengthening and rebuilding levees all along the river from Cairo to the Gulf of Mexico.

The legislation recommended to the Senate provides that if any district is unable to contribute the one-third of the cost of building the levees to the 1914 standard as recommended, the Secretary of War may proceed with the work upon receiving satisfactory assurances of future payment by local interests.

This does not apply to so-called guide levees along flood ways, which the United States shall acquire. Local communities also will be required to maintain all flood control works after completion, except controlling and regulating spillway structures, including relief levees.

Faithful Giants

Nothing about a railroad is more fascinating to the average person or more important to railway operation than the power plants on wheels which pull the trains. The massive size, tireless power and seemingly intelligent responsiveness of locomotives have a vivid appeal to the popular imagination. An adequate supply of efficient locomotives kept in first-class condition is a fundamental requirement for satisfactory railway service.

The Illinois Central System, in keeping with its pledge of efficient service, maintains an adequate supply of all types of locomotives essential to meet its patrons' demands. As the traffic of this railroad has grown through the increased population and the agricultural, industrial and commercial development of its territory, its locomotives have kept pace accordingly in both number and power. In 1856, the year its charter lines were completed, the Illinois Central had eighty-three locomotives. Now it owns more than 2200, and about one-fourth of them are less than seven years old. These 2200 locomotives are equivalent in power to more than 10,000 locomotives such as the ones used in 1856.

Keeping the locomotive supply of a large railway system adequate and up to date entails heavy outlays of capital. Since the beginning of 1920 the Illinois Central System has spent nearly $40,000,000 for the purchase and modernization of locomotives. Its expenditures for keeping its locomotives in good condition amount to around $16,000,000 a year.

Investments in road and equipment are permanent pledges of a railroad's desire to serve the public. Such investments can be productive only as they promote the prosperity and earn the favor of the users of railway service. The extensive investments which the Illinois Central System is constantly making to increase and improve its facilities are evidence of its faith in the continued advancement of its territory and in the continued good will of its patrons.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

CHICAGO, March 1, 1928.

YOUR ST. LOUIS

How Well Do You Know It?

BEATRICE CREAMERY CO.

Beatrice Creamery Company, manufacturers of the nationally known "Meadow Gold Butter," distributors of Beatrice Cheese and Eggs.

This company located in St. Louis over 25 years ago, pioneered the manufacturing of creamery butter on a large scale by encouraging the farmers to produce quality cream with a promise to furnish a year-round market and to pay cash for every shipment of cream. It established St. Louis as a cream market and now sends thousands of dollars to the dairymen in Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, Western Kentucky and Tennessee.

Beatrice Creamery Company were first in their field to do national advertising and operate close to 100 manufacturing and distributing plants covering the entire United States. They manufacture, buy and sell at their plants over 70 million pounds of butter annually, making them the outstanding organization of their kind.

Dominate in St. Louis, "Meadow Gold Butter," Beatrice Cheese and Eggs are the finest quality and are accepted as the BEST.

Every day this space will be devoted to some one particular manufacturing plant or industry which is contributing to the dynamic growth of St. Louis.

JURY TRYING WOMAN FOR KILLING DISAGREES

Stood 7 to 5 for Acquittal

Mrs. Mary Hart, Who Shot Charles Shulte.

The jury trying Mrs. Mary Hart, 37 years old, for manslaughter in the killing of her sister's friend, Charles Shulte, was unable to agree on a verdict yesterday afternoon, after four hours' deliberation, and was discharged by Circuit Judge Rutledge, who declared a mistrial.

The jury was reported to have deadlocked seven to five for acquittal. Mrs. Hart probably will be tried again, the Circuit Attorney announced.

Mrs. Hart admitted shooting Shulte in the back June 12, at her home, 1522 South Seventh street. Her defense was that Shulte was intoxicated, and, when denied admittance, threatened to kill her. He had called to visit her sister, Mrs. Carrie Cook, who refused to see him. Mrs. Hart testified that she fired two shots to scare Shulte, and then fired as he set his back to a door and burst it open.

Circuit Attorney Sidener personally prosecuted the case, and in his address to the jury declared he was surprised the defendant had not been indicted for second-degree murder, which is punishable by a maximum of life imprisonment. The maximum punishment for manslaughter is 10 years' imprisonment.

FIREMAN FINDS TWO SONS DEAD

Boys, 3 and 4 Years Old, Had Been Left Alone; House on Fire.

PITTSBURGH, March 1.—Answering a call of fire at his own home yesterday, William R. Lynch, a fireman, found his two children dead from suffocation, in a third-floor attic play room.

The children, boys 3 and 4 years old, were alone in the house at the time.

Girl Says Two Men Kidnaped Her.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Jeanette Butcher, 14 years old, who left her home two days ago, returned yesterday saying she had been kidnaped by two men and held prisoner in a rooming house. Police are investigating.

Now you'll like Yeast!

Only half there

crushed by cachexia (run-down condition)

When you lose your rose-colored glasses and are constantly troubled by physical and nervous exhaustion, indigestion, acidity, constipation and kindred evils—just try eating yeast! Sounds too simple maybe, but the fact is that this marvelous food has brought welcome relief to millions of run-down, weak, ailing people.

Get the best yeast, though—Yeast Foam Tablets. These pellets are pure yeast; you eat them like candy. Everyone likes their taste. Convenient to carry; they keep; they don't form gas. So for the handy packet or 50c for the 10-day bottle.

Eat Yeast Foam Tablets for cachexia (run-down condition). Loss of appetite. Indigestion. Constipation. Boils—Pimples.

400 SAMOANS SENT TO PRISON FOR BOYCOTT

Had Opposed British Government and Refused to Deal With European Merchants

By the Associated Press.
APIA, British Samoa, March 1.—
Four hundred members of the Mau (League of Samoa) have been sentenced to six months' imprisonment for their activities in attempting to boycott local European stores as a means of embarrassing the Government.

The Mau has asked that a new administration be appointed to replace the present officials, but this proposal has been regarded as being "too absurd" for serious consideration.

The 400 members of the Mau were brought to trial after they had been arrested by Government forces landed here from New Zealand to quell the unrest that has been marked by the Mau members who were convicted of attempting to subvert the Government.

Among the various complaints of the Mau against the administration are that the Samoans should be granted more representation in the Government, and that New Zealand enforces prohibition in Samoa without so doing in New Zealand.

The boycott was instituted with the idea that, if the Samoans could prevent sales, the merchants would be unable to pay taxes to the Government.

Ruth Elder Forfeits $300 Bond.
By the Associated Press.
CLAYTON, Ga., March 1.—
Ruth Elder, the flyer, charged with a statutory offense in an indictment returned here four years ago, failed to appear when the case was called in Rabun County Superior Court yesterday and forfeited a bond of $300. The indictment alleged that the offense was committed in 1924 while Miss Elder, who was then Mrs. C. E. Moody, lived here with her husband, a teacher in a small mountain school. Shuford Jenkins, described as an itinerant crange-list, against whom a similar charge was returned, has not been apprehended.

Convicted in $104,000 Robbery.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 1.—After deliberating half an hour, a jury has convicted Stanley Bodzinski of participating in the $104,000 Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation robbery at the Cove-dale mine, near Pittsburgh, last March 11. Bodzinski, alleged member of the Paul Jaworski gang, will be sentenced Friday. The robbery was executed by blowing up an armored pay truck on a highway near here.

NEWS HAS PROPERTY STATUS, CANADIAN JUSTICE DECIDES

Decision Protects Right of Syndicate to Keep Information Exclusive Without Copyright.
By the Associated Press.
TORONTO, March 1.—In a decision yesterday by Justice Loebe was determined for the first time in Ontario, that news gathered by a syndicate is property in the same sense as other tangible possessions and may not be appropriated by others.

The decision gave a judgment to Maclean Building Reports, Ltd., which has established in the last 17 years a system for collecting and distributing information concerning construction operations throughout Canada. The service was sold to subscribers for their exclusive use.

Matter published by the Maclean company was not held to be protected by copyright, but was claimed as property at common law, the interference with or appropriation of which was wrong as the appropriation of money.

The English Courts had so ruled and a similar ruling had been handed down in Massachusetts. Today's judgment perpetually restrains other organizations from publishing or otherwise circulating any information obtained or prepared by Maclean Building Reports, Ltd., and furnished, or to be furnished, by them to their subscribers.

$35,000 FIRE AT MOUNDS, ILL.

MOUNDS, Ill., March 1.—Loss from a fire that started in the Lyric motion-picture theater Tuesday night and destroyed the building and two adjoining, occupied as a poolroom and a confectionery, was estimated at $35,000. The Cairo and Mound City fire departments were called and prevented spread of the flames.

A variety store, barber shop and loan office on the second floor of the Nolte Building suffered heavy damage from smoke and water.

13 MINERS KILLED IN GERMANY

BERLIN, March 1.—Thirteen miners were killed and 25 injured today when two cages in a mine near Beckinghausen, Westfalen, Prussia, broke away and plunged to the bottom of the shaft.

There's Body and Flavor to this New Cake!

... for it's made like you'd make it—from a genuine Cook-Book Recipe

Exact recipe is packed with each cake

Lemon Loaf Cake 20¢

NOW you can buy a cake with real home-made body and flavor. For it's made from a tested Cook-Book Recipe and the same ingredients you have in your pantry. Made just as you'd make it yourself. Try one, at our risk, and see how good a real Cook-Book Cake can be.

This delicious new cake is called LEMON LOAF CAKE. Your grocer has it now. It's a luscious, fresh loaf cake—made with moist, fluffy golden sponge. Icing of rich butter-cream, flavored with real lemon fruit-juice.

You get the exact recipe with each cake To give this cake its fresh-baked flavor we make it just as you'd make a cake. From a genuine Cook-Book Recipe—followed to the letter. (Inside the wrapper of each cake you will find the exact recipe we use. Every ingredient and exact measurements.)

Make one yourself—with this recipe!

You can make a LEMON LOAF CAKE yourself, from this recipe. You can compare it with ours. Thus, see for yourself that LEMON LOAF is a real Cook-Book Cake—that it must be baked with freshest eggs, table butter, pure rich dairy cream, pastry flour and the best flavoring extract, to taste so good. This is why we guarantee all Grennan Cook-Book Cakes.

You must be satisfied

Your grocer now has 6 different Cook-Book Cakes. Six delicious varieties, but all made from genuine home Cook-Book Recipes. Try any one. If you're not satisfied it has a real home-made taste—return the unused portion to your grocer and get your money back. We will cheerfully repay him.

HOUSE WRECKER WRECKS LAW SUIT

Claims $24 and Might Have Got $8, but Denounces Judge,
So Gets Nothing.

A. C. Spencer of 4063A Olive street, who admits his proficiency as a carpenter and wrecker, proved his ability at the latter job yesterday when he did an excellent piece of wrecking in his case in Justice of the Peace Moore's court. It was toward the middle of last December when Spencer informed Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Larmie that he would build a fence in the rear of their home at 4032 Delmar boulevard for $8. They told him to go to work and he did. But, according to Mrs. Larmie, he didn't work for any considerable period at a time.

If Spencer wasn't telling her about his own and his wife's troubles, Mrs. Larmie informed the Court, he was asking for a "hand-out," and when he wasn't so engaged, he was finding it necessary to return to his home for more tools. When he did work, she said, it took him an hour and a half to put a latch on the fence gate. Then, said Mrs. Larmie, when the fence was about finished, she discovered it displayed a tendency to sag into the alley, a possible tragedy which she says she averted by bringing in outside aid to bring in the fence—aid that cost her $2.

It was about this time, Mrs. Larmie continued, that Spencer and the Larmies fell out. Spencer called her a hussy and a giddy girl, she declared, and then, raising his hands toward heaven, cried out, "Oh, Lord, give me more names to call this woman." After that, according to her testimony, she refused to answer Spencer's rings at the door, which didn't please Spencer, and one afternoon he engaged in a sort of relay race with himself, running from back door to front door, each time vigorously ringing the bell. And when she tried to give him his $8, he wouldn't take it. When Spencer got on the stand he stuck his chin out over a winged collar and told the Magistrate the fence never sagged, because when he "built a fence, it stayed built." He admitted the Larmies had offered him $8, but he said the job was worth $24, and that was why he was suing for $24.

"Why don't you take $8?" asked the Court, endeavoring to settle the trouble amicably. Spencer jumped to his feet. "You mean," he shouted, "I only get $8? There is no justice in the courts!"

Magistrate Moore wheeled around in his chair, slapped his

ASSERTS FEVERS CURE LEPROSY

Head of South African Colony Says Aim Is "to Burn Up" Germs. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 1. — A new treatment for leprosy is described by Dr. C. P. Birkenstock, superintendent of the Malmulo hospital and leper colony in Nyasaland, South Africa, in a report to the Foreign Mission Board of Seventh Day Adventist Church here. The treatment, which he reports has resulted in the discharge of four patients as cured, consists of maintaining deliberately a fever temperature in the patients. The object of the treatment, as explained in the report, is "to burn up" in the fever attacks the leper bacilli which, he says, succumb to high temperatures. During the course of the treatment, the leper patients are subjected to 50 or 60 attacks of fever, induced by certain infections.

PART TWO.

SENATORS AMAZE
AT SCOPE OF 'REAL WAR IN NICARAGUA'

Gen. Lejeune and Admiral Latimer Disclose Extent of Fighting by Marine Committee

ONE ENCOUNTER
LASTED 14 HOURS

Talk of Sandino as "Bandit" Declared Ridiculous—Bank Loans Be Gone Into.

BY PAUL Y. ANDERSON
A Staff Correspondent of the Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—People of the United States were astounded when they discovered huge scale upon which this country's military operations in Nicaragua have been conducted recent weeks, a member of Senate Foreign Relations Committee told the writer today. He said the campaign against Gen. Sandino constituted "real war," that talk of Sandino as a "bandit" was ridiculous.

The scope of the fighting, strength of the forces engaged and the extent of the casualties, both sides, were fully disclosed by the committee behind closed doors more than two weeks ago by General Lejeune, commander of the Marine Corps, Admiral Latimer, commanding the naval force in Nicaraguan waters and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. The testimony will be published in the Senate Record.

Members of the committee, seated in shocked amazement, writer learned, as Secretary Latimer stated the forces included a formidable American Expeditionary Force, and while Gen. Lejeune and Admiral Latimer told of military battles in the Nicara hills which approached the scale of major engagements, one battle between the troops of Sandino and the Marines, described Gen. Lejeune, lasted for 14 hours the morning of the following afternoon.

To mention such a struggle as a mere encounter with the height of absurdity, as Senator who heard the testimony, "It sounded more like a battle of Gettysburg." Whether the public will get the full details of the encounter, however, is doubtful. For the usual custom of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the writer was allowed to "correct" the Secretary's account of the battle, sometimes are carried extraordinary lengths.

For example, following the appearance of Secretary of the Navy before the committee to testify on the Nicaragua situation, he was allowed to "correct" his testimony. When Gen. Borah saw the "corrected" report that it differed from the Secretary's account, he found that he declined to print under the committee's authority.

Wilbur keeps Record. In the present instance, however, Gen. Lejeune, Admiral Latimer returned the "corrected" record of their testimony. The committee very promptly that Secretary Wilbur kept a record. The writer was told that the Secretary's "corrected" version differed from the original testimony.

It will be observed, of that the word "correct" in this connection is a word the opposite of its true. The truly correct record is taken down by the shorthand writer. The "corrections" by the Secretary are changes in their original text and made with an eye to the publication. Hence, the "corrected" record really is the record, the extent that it has been "corrected."

SENATORS AMAZED AT SCOPE OF 'REAL' WAR IN NICARAGUA

Gen. Lejeune and Admiral Latimer Disclose Extent of Fighting by Marines to Committee

ONE ENCOUNTER LASTED 14 HOURS

Talk of Sandino as "Mere Bandit" Declared Ridiculous—Bank Loans May Be Gone Into.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The people of the United States will be astounded when they discover the huge scale upon which this Government's military operations in Nicaragua have been conducted in recent weeks, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told the writer today. He said the campaign against Gen. Sandino constituted "real war," and that talk of Sandino as a "mere bandit" was ridiculous.

The scope of the fighting, the strength of the forces engaged, and the extent of the casualties on both sides, were fully disclosed to the committee behind closed doors more than two weeks ago by Major-General Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, and Admiral Latimer, commanding the naval forces in Nicaragua, when they appeared before the committee.

Members of the committee listened in shocked amazement, the writer learned, as Secretary Wilbur listed the forces included in the formidable American Expeditionary Force, and while Gen. Lejeune and Admiral Latimer told of sanguinary battles in the Nicaraguan hills which approached the character of major engagements.

One battle between the Marines and Sandino's troops, described by Gen. Lejeune, lasted from 1 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock the following afternoon.

"To mention such a struggle as a mere encounter with bandits, is the height of absurdity," said one Senator who heard the description. "It sounded more like the battle of Gettysburg."

Whether the public will receive the full details of the struggle, however, is doubtful. Following the usual custom of the Foreign Relations Committee, the witnesses were allowed to "correct" the stenographic report of their testimony. Prior to its printing such "corrections" sometimes are carried to extraordinary lengths.

For example, following the appearance of Secretary of State Kellogg before the committee last year to testify on the Nicaraguan situation, he was allowed to "correct" his testimony. When Chairman Borah saw the "corrected" version he found that it differed so widely from the Secretary's actual testimony that he declined to let it be printed under the committee's authority.

Wilbur Keeps Record 15 Days. In the present instance, it is known that Gen. Lejeune and Admiral Latimer returned the "corrected" record of their testimony to the committee very promptly, but that Secretary Wilbur kept his 15 days. The writer was unable to learn the extent to which the "corrected" version differed from the original testimony.

It will be observed, of course, that the word "correct" is used in this connection in a sense exactly the opposite of its true meaning. The truly correct record is the one taken down by the shorthand reporter. The "corrections" made by witnesses afterward actually are changes in their original testimony, and made with an eye to the effect of its publication. Hence, the published record really is incorrect to the extent that it has been "corrected."

The published record is what reaches the public. The subjects taken up by the witnesses related only to the use of the armed forces of this country in Nicaragua. They were not questioned about the bank loans, concessions and other elements which may have prompted intervention.

Senate Investigation Likely. A Senate investigation of that side of the question remains a lively possibility, Chairman Borah told the writer today. Resolutions by Senator Wheeler of Montana and others, calling for such an inquiry, are pending, and when their authors have read the forthcoming report of the testimony already taken, it is probable that they will renew their demands.

On Sandino's Trail

Traveling on Foot With Indian Guide, Correspondent Evades U. S. Marines and Meets Woman Wounded by Airplane Bomb—Nicaraguan Leader Agrees to Receive Him in Secret Stronghold.

By CARLETON BEALS, A Staff Correspondent of "The Nation."

"This and other articles on the subject of Nicaragua, written by Mr. Beals, are published by special arrangement with 'The Nation'."

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Feb. 27.—(By Radio Telegraph)—Our Odyssey had begun. From the San Pedro ranch to the point where our connections with the next Sandino outpost were broken and we lost track of the route taken by Gen. Sandino after his evacuation of El Chipote, our way led us ever deeper into the mountains in an ever-widening inland circle about the scene of operations of the American Marines.

Immediately our arrival at San Pedro, one of the three boys of our host, promptly put on a 2-hour trip through the rain with my flashlight and raincoat to where Father Don F. was hidden in a secret nook with the women of his family. By midnight Don Y. arrived to talk with us. His uncle, a colored man, was with him.

In an accompanying letter he explained the bill also would provide that no reserve petroleum products placed in storage should be "leased" for use or otherwise disposed of, except in time of war or national emergency declared by the President.

Planned to Free Nation. "I worked alongside Sandino in the San Albino mines in Nueva Segovia some years ago," he told me. "Even then Sandino had ideas about freeing his fatherland from foreign control."

"I was with Vice President Sacasa when he established the Government at Puerto Cabezas in December, 1926, and also when Sandino when he fought his successful battles through the republic in Yucucapa, Trinidad, and the more recent successful attack on Chinandega. Despite American support of the Diaz faction, Sandino was everywhere successful because the country was overwhelmingly Liberal."

"Then one day American battleships anchored in port and 300 Marines landed without asking anybody's consent. Puerto Cabezas, the seat of Sacasa's government, was declared a neutral zone. Everything became a neutral zone where the Liberal forces were successful. Sacasa was ordered to sever his arms to the American forces, although to my mind Sacasa was the only legal President of the country."

Sacasa Flees for Life. "Sacasa had to leave the country to save his life. Diaz was put in by American coercion and not merely by a rump Parliament, either, but a Parliament containing many illegal members."

"When the Marines appeared at Puerto Cabezas, Sandino was all for resistance, but Sacasa calmed him down. The Marines, instead of delivering his arms, turned to the hinterland, into the mosquito-infested marshes where every drop of alkaline drinking water was obtained by digging wells and straining the mud. He obtained some 25 Indians to carry what he had salvaged to Prinzapolka. From there he made his way with untold hardships up Cabo de Gracias and with a small group ascended to Rio Coco mountain in Nueva Segovia."

"When the Stimson-Moncada agreement was made at Tipitapa, Sandino disbanded his troops, but refused to deliver his arms. After thoroughly acquainting himself with the terms of the agreement, he represented not only the betrayal of the Liberal party, but the betrayal of the Nicaraguan people. So he raised the banner of revolt in Nueva Segovia, where he has remained under arms nearly nine months. His experiences at Puerto Cabezas with the Marines gave him the firm conviction that the first duty of a patriotic Nicaraguan was to establish his country's sovereignty in the face of the world and make foreign invasion impossible."

Instructions From Sandino. I shall consider Colindres' statements in a later article. The reply from Gen. Sandino to Colindres arrived at the return by Indian courier.

WILBUR ASKS FOR LAWS TO CONSERVE NAVY'S OIL SUPPLY

Submits Draft of Bill to Provide Adequate Reserve for Use in Time of War.

SEEKS ACQUISITION OF MORE LAND

Purpose of This Is to Prevent Drainage of Reserve Through Adjacent Private Wells.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Secretary Wilbur today asked Congress to enact legislation declaring it "to be the policy of the United States to maintain and conserve and develop the naval petroleum reserves and oil shale reserves."

At the same time, he would declare "that it is necessary for the national defense that the United States shall have an adequate reserve supply of petroleum and petroleum products for use in time of war for national emergency."

In an accompanying letter he explained the bill also would provide that no reserve petroleum products placed in storage should be "leased" for use or otherwise disposed of, except in time of war or national emergency declared by the President.

These insurance companies, these banks and these other agencies that, by the force of conditions, are getting this land under their control, know very little about it," he explained. "They know very little about the management of their tenants. Therefore, they are willing to have fundamental research work done to show them the best way of taking this 10,000 or 20,000 acre holding and operating it efficiently."

By the Associated Press. BISMARCK, N. D., March 1.—A petition asking the name of Gov. Alfred E. Smith appear as a Democratic presidential candidate of the primary election held in North Dakota March 20, was filed with the Secretary of State yesterday. The petition was filed by E. J. Hughes, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Although no check has been made of the number of names on the petition, it was apparent that there were more than the 500 signatures required by law, it was said by clerks of the Secretary's office.

LOAN BOARD HAS FORECLOSED ON $17,000,000 FARM LANDS

Another $5,040,301 Subject to Be Taken Over, Federal Report Discloses.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Almost $17,000,000 worth of farm lands have fallen into the hands of the Federal Farm Loan Board through foreclosures since establishment of the board, Lloyd S. Tenny, chief of the Bureau of Economics, Department of Agriculture, has disclosed in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee.

Publication today of the testimony, given in framing the agriculture appropriation bill, revealed that, in addition to that huge amount, another $5,040,301 is subject to foreclosure.

These foreclosed lands and other huge tracts which have come into the hands of the Federal Farm Loan Board are making it necessary for the Agriculture Department to make a study of estate management, Tenny said.

DETAILS OF TROTSKY'S EXILE GIVEN IN LETTER OF FRENCH RADICAL TO MAX EASTMAN

Former Soviet Leader Ordered to Turkestan on Day's Notice, and Dragged From Home by Guards, Communist Writes.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Details of the exile of Leon Trotsky and other opposition leaders in Russia were given here for the first time yesterday by Max Eastman, writer and lecturer, in an address on "Political Liberty" at the new School for Social Research."

Eastman spent two years in Russia and wrote an authorized biography of Trotsky. His information as to Trotsky's deportation to Turkestan was contained in a letter forwarded to him by a French communist, he explained. He pointed out that the date and place of the deportation had been concealed from foreign correspondents by the force of conditions, are getting this land under their control, know very little about it," he explained. ## PREPAREDNESS FOR WAR URGED BY REED IN SPEECH

Senator Pleads at Los Angeles for Justice to All Nations as Best Means of Preventing Conflict.

FOR ADEQUATE NAVY AND COAST DEFENSE

Missouri's Presidential Candidate Will Get California Vote at Houston, State Manager Says.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—A policy of staunch national defense and preparedness was advocated last night by Senator Reed of Missouri as he opened his campaign in California with a speech here last night.

He coupled his support for a sturdy and "adequate" navy with another attack on the Republican administration in which he assailed the "inactivity" of President Coolidge in the investigation of the leasing of naval oil reserves and Secretary Mellon for his participation in "the corrupt Pennsylvania senatorial election" of 1926.

He spoke in the commodious Olympic auditorium after a busy day spent with Los Angeles Democrats who extended a whole-hearted welcome in numerous calls on the Senator at his hotel. At a meeting of the Breakfast club Reed was officially welcomed to the State in speeches by Lieutenant-Governor "Phil" and Mayorolph of San Francisco, himself a guest of the party. They hailed him as a presidential candidate and assured him of the State's hospitality.

No Prospects of War.

"Turning to the discussion of national defense in his address, the Senator emphasized he felt no alarm about the prospects of war, but he warned that 'the experience of the ages demonstrated that paper treaties are not an adequate defense against the artillery of an enemy.'"

"First—To continue the policy of justice toward all the world; so far as possible, to keep free from all world embroilments and controversies. "Second—Keep our nation in such state of preparedness that no other nation can successfully attack our shores."

"This does not, in my judgment, mean an enormous military establishment. But it does mean land force, regular militia, sufficient to constitute a first line defense. "It demands the possession of artillery, munitions and small arms adequate to supply the needs of a great army as quickly as it may be required."

"It demands a fleet upon the ocean great enough to protect our commerce; to hold back an advancing enemy and to sink his transports."

The Senator again emphasized that he wanted one country and one people and he declared "the man who divides his allegiance between two countries is traitor to both."

For Law Enforcement. Reed declared that the Democrats to lay aside the prohibition issue and "drive the villains from office." He said he was for law enforcement and beyond that he did not go into the merits of the wet and dry fight.

He called for a campaign on a platform of "an honest administration by honest men." He warned that the party was divided "about the prohibition and associated those who would insist upon a wet or dry plank or other controversial plank in the Democratic platform as 'assistant Republicans.'"

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles: that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely prima facie news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Flood Control and Unemployment.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NOTE that the Post-Dispatch is urging editorially that the nation should unite the twin problems of flood control and unemployment. I am glad to voice my approval of your suggestion. It is estimated there are 5,000,000 people in our country who are today without employment. Within the past few weeks this deplorable fact has been referred in speeches made in both the Senate and House. Senator McKellar of Tennessee, in a forceful speech made in the Senate, criticized the Director of the Budget for his action in cutting down the engineers' estimate of the money needed next year for the improvement and maintenance of our waterways to the extent of $6,000,000 at a time when millions of our population are so badly in need of employment.

Suggestions are being made that the Government should, as soon as possible, enact the necessary flood control legislation, not only because of the necessity of preventing future disastrous floods, but for the reason that by starting the work on a proper scale at this time, employment would be given to many thousands of people who otherwise would be subjected to idleness and destitution. It seems to me to be bad time for the Federal Government to be cutting down expenditures for badly needed public improvements when the prosecution of the work would relieve the distress and suffering of a large number of our people.

JAMES E. SMITH.

On the Homestead Line.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I CAME up on Homestead car No. 629 at 12:30 the other day. It was disgraceful, such crowding and pushing from the front to the rear. It is humiliating that women and girls have to be pushed and dragged by men elbowing their way through. Why is it they do not use cars like those on the Olive-DeMar line, with alighting doors in the center? Something should be done.

AMELIA HUNT.

Contending That the Reorganized Church of Latter-Day Saints Is the True One.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN your issue of Feb. 12 you printed an article on "Mormonism" which misrepresented the Reorganized Church of Latter-Day Saints. Seemingly your slogan has been fair play. Therefore, as the missionary minister in this region, I essay the task of correcting some misleading statements.

Why did you not get the facts relative to the Smith family from Pres. F. M. Smith of the Reorganized Church—inasmuch as the disinterring of the bones of the two martyrs was under the auspices of the Reorganized Church? We do not claim to be the schismatic branch of the "Mormon Church," but we claim to be the church itself. This has been corroborated by the highest court decisions of the land. Many of the true loyal saints never following the wrong of Utah. Emma Smith, wife of the prophet, never started with him across the plains. Not one of his children went to Utah as a member of the Utah church. They all came into the Reorganization. Nine children were born to this marriage. Strange, indeed, if he had 23 wives, that none of his posterity can be located in Utah.

When "young Joseph" was sent out to Utah by the Reorganized Church, he said to these women who had signed affidavits that they were the plural wives of Mr. Smith: "I have $500 for anyone who will show me some of my brothers and sisters in this territory." None of them won the prize.

The Reorganized Church brought suit against the Utah Mormons for the ownership of the Kirtland Temple. We proved that polygamy, Adam God worship, Blood Atonement, etc., were doctrines foreign to the original church, and that the Utah church reprobated its members, reordained, and hence made a "new" church entirely. The Judge rendered the decision to the Reorganized Church.

We also, contended for the "Temple Lot" property at Independence, Mo. Judge John F. Phillips of the U. S. Circuit Court tried the case, heard these so-called plural wives testify and rendered the decree in our favor, showing that the Reorganized Church at Independence, Mo., is the church in succession to the one organized by Joseph F. Smith, the martyr, in 1820.

Senator Burrows of the U. S. takes these court decisions up into the highest archives of the nation and draws the distinction between "true Latter-Day Saintism and the Utah Mormonism." H. H. Bancroft, the greatest historian America ever knew, says: "Most of the histories written against the Latter-Day Saints are unreliable as to facts."

The Book of Mormon and "Doctrine and Covenants" both condemn the practice of plural marriage. The Utah Mormons took out the mousgamic section in "Doctrine and Covenants" and inserted the so-called plural marriage revelation, which originated in the fertile brain of Brigham Young. Emma Smith, the star witness, says she never had such a revelation in her possession, that it was a tale made out of whole cloth.

UNION ELECTRIC'S BIG PROFITS

It was pointed out when the Walsh resolution was before the Senate that almost every practice at which the power inquiry was directed was epitomized in St. Louis. Perhaps there are other cities where the modern phenomenon of public utility finance displays itself in all its phases as completely as it does here, but it can at least be said that what the Munros, the Newmans, the Clarkes and the others have done and are doing here leaves nothing to the imagination.

The latest proof that this is true are the profits of Union Electric. This company increased its profits in 1927 nearly $1,000,000, or 21 per cent, over the previous year. Upon the "prudent investment" valuation of 13 years ago placed upon it by the State Public Service Commission and brought up to date by the company without check by the commission, it earned 8.14 per cent. When Munroe was exploiting the local gas utility Louis H. Egan, president of Union Electric, said to the Post-Dispatch:

We distinctly do not believe in making valuation of public utilities and demanding compensating rates thereon, and selling securities to the public, on the basis of reproduction cost new, that will exist only for a temporary period. There will be a day of reckoning for a procedure of that character, and we intend to lend the aid of our resources and our experience to assist the city in protecting itself from action of this kind.

Yet the company attempts now to justify itself in doing to a degree exactly what makes possible the evil practice of pyramiding utility securities. It tells us that the big profit it made last year is fair because on a "fair method of valuation now employed by the State Commission in contrast with the former theory of original cost," the property is now worth from $70,000,000 to $75,000,000 and that it made in 1927 therefore only 6 1/2 per cent. This is to say that the company now claims a valuation from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 in excess of its actual investment.

The community will wonder that the company's valuation has not been checked up by the State in 12 years. That seems a very long time to let the company place its own valuation upon the property. The explanation very well could be that with a sea of utility troubles confronting it the State Commission may be said to be engulfed.

So much for the State's frantic efforts to regulate such a complicated industry.

THE POPULAR GUEST CONDUCTOR IDEA.

Guest conductors have been popular, and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will continue the practice next season. It has increased interest in the orchestra, which is encouraged to lengthen its next season from 16 to 18 pairs of concerts.

Perhaps the guest conductor idea best suits our St. Louis temperament. Apparently, we are peculiar in this respect. It is not that we soon tire of a symphony conductor alone and drive him out. We do that same thing in baseball, which does best here with guest managers. It was this disposition not to want too much of what one person does that afflicted the Garden Theater, and it has also hampered the growth of a little theater in St. Louis. The guest conductor, the guest manager, the guest director, the guest football coach, etc., etc., seems to be essential to popularity in many St. Louis enterprises.

SINCE'S FATE.

We have been pondering the fate of Harry Sinclair, who has nine months of imprisonment hanging over his head. As everyone knows, he must serve this time, unless the higher courts decree otherwise, in the common hoosegaw at Washington. The prospect is dark and dismal indeed for the hoosegaw at Washington has, to use a vulgar term, no class. It is just an ordinary looking full of vagrants and thieves and such undistinguished gentry. In other words, it is not a place fit to house an oil multimillionaire, either from the standpoint of interior decoration or social desirability.

For Sinc's sake, we think it is too bad he is not going to the penitentiary at Atlanta. Stephen G. Cio, who spent quite a sojourn there as an inmate, reports in Plain Talk that Atlanta has a select personnel. Among his companions were 10 millionaires that Sinc might find endurable companions, but Cio says "the aristocracy of intellect within the walls far exceeded the aristocracy of money." He might have added that most of the plutocrats are out on bond. He lists authors, actors, engineers, journalists, dentists, physicians, lawyers, preachers, publishers and musicians.

Cio found it a place bristling with high diversion and with real humor. He quotes Gaston B. Means, a jolly, waggish chap who will be remembered as a member of the Ohio gang, as saying to every "parting guest" that he could buttonhole:

My boy, you ought to go out a happy man. Think of the celebrities you've met here that would have kicked you out of their offices on the outside.

And think of Sinc's biting his nails in Washington jail when he might have been sent to Atlanta.

THE THREATENED CHAOS IN RADIO.

If Congress does not renew the lease of life of the Federal Radio Commission before March 15, the chaos which once existed in radio is almost certain to arise again. The commission will then be merely a sort of appellate tribunal to review decisions of the Department of Commerce, which is itself not adequately equipped to perform the present functions of the commission.

Due to the insistence of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee that the House assent to certain amendments to the radio act, there has resulted a stalemate. This situation, so it is rumored, is the result of a design by certain Senators to prevent the passage of any legislation, or at least to hold a club over the commission in making its decisions. The House committee, likewise, has adopted several amendments which it is obvious the Senate will not accept. The outlook is, therefore, that the stalemate will continue.

Such a prospect may be alluring to a few disgruntled broadcasters, chiefly of the sort who would like to oppress the listening public with advertising matter, and who have for months, through their paid lobbyists, been agitating against the commission because it refused to allow them the wave lengths allotted to first-class stations. But the public, it is fair to assume, cannot contemplate the possibility with other than despair. It has had an opportunity to learn the necessity of order in the air, and it has come to appreciate the success of the commission in establishing such order.

In this emergency, therefore, it is urgently required that the public make its voice felt in a firm manner. If that takes place, the policy which certain Senators and Congressmen are now pursuing is almost certain to be abandoned. If the public does not act quickly, it can blame itself for the resulting predicament.

REED AND MISSOURI.

In the sweet harmonies of the St. Joseph convention all differences were forgotten, and the Democrats of Missouri stand solidly for Senator Reed. Eight years ago they refused to send him as a delegate to the San Francisco convention, but the Reed who angered his party by fighting Wilson has won its admiration and affection by fighting corruption. That ought to heal every difference between him and his party, and it fortunately has. If it did not the Democratic party could not be counted upon in the fight against corruption. That would be a negation of one of its best traditions. The Democratic party has not always matched its rivals in the difficult field of practical politics, but it has been honest. After the dishonesties of Republican rule since the World War the country cannot fail of respect for the honesty of the Wilson regime both in peace and in war.

Senator Reed is at this time the dark horse in the presidential race. He has no support in the East, and the chance that he will be nominated at Houston is at best precarious. The East is much closer to that foreign world in which our investments now total $25,000,000,000, and upon his foreign side Reed seems to it, as the New York World put it, "a political cave man." Nevertheless it would be a poor prophecy which put him down as a negligible factor in the impending contest. Mass movements are slow-footed. It is possible that we are upon the eve of a political revolution. The charges of corruption which Senator Reed is hurling at the Republicans have the deadly impact of Jovian thunderbolts. Every day adds to the volume and effectiveness of his thunder. There is no issue in the campaign at the moment. Neither party, apparently, wants to grapple with prohibition. The Republicans will hardly accept Hoover. They are much more likely to return to their usual stronghold and nominate Dawes. They have powerful reasons for such a course. There is, for instance, the great power interest whose lobby has just overwhelmed Senator Walsh. The cry of that great predatory interest, which also expects to win both the battle of Boulder Dam and the field of Muscle Shoals, is "On to the White House!" There is but one man who would satisfy that revolt from the political dilettanteism of Hoover. That man is Dawes.

It is not settled where the presidential campaign will be fought. If it is fought on a hundred scattered fields, none entirely cleared of underbrush, the Democrats might nominate Smith. If it moved to Armageddon, where the people faced their oppressors and neither side asked quarter, the Democrats would almost certainly nominate Reed. That is his fight. Is this too much to hope for? The militant, unterrified and reunited Democracy of Missouri does not think so.

THE LOW-DOWN ON C. R. S.

If one must choose between an all meat and an all vegetable diet, choose the meat. That is the counsel of the omniscient Mr. Brisbane, who assures us that a vegetable diet is not good for thinking. So now we know what is the matter with George Bernard Shaw. The man might have made something of himself if he had eschewed the parsnip and chewed his quota of England's roast beef.

THE LUDWIG-KEYSERLING ROW.

Great writers, like other artists, and artisans, too, are subject to professional jealousy. That, perhaps, accounts for the coyness, to put it mildly, between the two German literatures, Count Keyserling and Emil Ludwig, both of whom visited St. Louis on their American lecture tours. Then, too, their philosophies of life are antagonistic. Keyserling, a Count, has the aristocratic tradition and outlook, while Ludwig, apparently, is wholly unimpressed by titular eminence or hereditary brummage. He may have his bias, but the books that have brought him fame reveal a tireless pursuit of facts and courageous integrity in appraising the facts, without fear or favor. His brilliancy of accomplishment, moreover, quite eclipses the vague, fumbling, frequently unintelligible obscurantism of Keyserling.

With the Count's refusal to attend a function where Ludwig was a guest we are completely unconcerned. But if, as surmised, the nobleman's hostility to the historian is chargeable partly to the latter's statement, in the biography of the former Kaiser, that "the ruling Princes of Germany fled ignominiously after the surrender" and thereby "lost the right to rule," the Count's social strutting is dull stuff. Ludwig has been guilty of telling the truth. That may be a heinous offense to Kaisers and the Keyserlings, but it is not an offense to the twentieth century.

THE INDIVIDUAL IN EDUCATION.

John H. Rabe, who died recently, spent nearly a half-century as principal in the city's public schools. A few days ago a meeting of St. Louis principals and other educators passed an appreciation of him. It said, in part:

"The spirit of adventure springing from his intense individualism made him always essentially a progressive, and often, in theory at least, a radical. But for some modern technique he had little use. He saw his school humanistically. He saw around him not problems, causes, tendencies, methods and theories, but he saw each child with his own soul. Graphs and tables did not attract him. He considered the children directly and individually."

That is one of the finest tributes that could be paid an educator. Consideration of the individual, of the student as an entity, is becoming all too infrequent in this day of mass production in schools and colleges. There still is much to be said for the methods the masters employed in the olive groves of Greece.

THE STREET CAR PLEBISCITE.

Nothing could have been more democratic than the plebiscite conducted by the local street railway company in the matter of entering the cars.

The vote was taken on 949 cars, and 303,624 passengers voted. A majority, that is 191,239 to 112,385, expressed a preference for the old practice of entering the cars at the rear. The issue likely was decided in the light of experience. The people have pulled their clothes off too many times trying to work one way when the car was going the other to believe in that kind of transit. They prefer to go downstream.

"In Contempt of the American People"

Thus Does the New York Times Characterize Harry Sinclair, Oil Multimillionaire, a Sentiment Echoed by Other New York Newspapers in Commenting Upon Sinclair's Latest Jail Sentence.

TIME AND THE CRIMINAL.

From the New York Times.
THERE is some moral satisfaction in seeing Sinclair, that master architect of fraud and corruption, found guilty of criminal contempt and sentenced to jail. As in the lesser matter of contempt of the Senate, he can serve off imprisonment for no one knows how long. He can spend still more on lawyers and legal proceedings. The Court of Appeals and, if that is unkind, the Supreme Court, which has described his major transaction as "fraud" and "corruption," will be asked to protect his tender innocence. There is just impatience because a rich malefactor, after four years of prosecution, still goes unwhipped of justice and is now able to postpone it for his collateral but characteristic effort to debauch a jury as he had debauched an executive department.

Tardiness of justice and legal means to obstruct it are a familiar blot upon the American system of criminal law. Murders are not usually rich, but they are often able to make their road to the chair a long one. Bribery, an attempt upon the moral life of a State, is in its intentions and its consequences, if it remains hidden or, if exposed, it goes unpunished, a crime more heinous than the common crime than the theft of Teapot Dome, grave as that was. It is possible to corrupt one man in a government and steal on a grand scale from your fellow citizens without being more than a common thief. But, confronted by such charges, any American worth his salt would face the music and pay his penalty. It is a sad commentary upon the Sinclair group that none of them had enough respect for the Government under which they live to respect its courts of justice.

CONTEMPT.

From the New York Herald-Tribune.
CONTEMPT of court is an ancient and fundamental phrase, rooted in the common law of England, whereby a court, the freeman's court, the citizen's court, asserts its dignity and power in an emergency. Such an emergency does not often arise, for most Anglo-Saxons have a proper regard for government, for judges, for juries, for law.

What William Siddons finds Harry F. Sinclair and William J. Burns and their employes guilty of is a far more serious crime than the theft of Teapot Dome, grave as that was. ## "THE LAW CAN'T TOUCH SINCLAIR."

From the New York World.
THE man in the street reads that Harry F. Sinclair has once more been sentenced to jail, but so thoroughly have the oil scandals done their work and so widely have they taught their lesson that there are probably few people who expect Sinclair to pay his penalty. He is under sentence of six months in prison for criminal contempt in consequence of his jury-shadowing. He is under sentence of three months in prison for contempt of the Senate by his refusal to answer questions under oath. He stands charged by the Supreme Court of the United States with participation in the lease of a great public property "made fraudulently by means of collusion and conspiracy." But he is a free man now, six years after his lease was signed; and it is the cynical suspicion of the American public that because he is rich and because he is well equipped with counsel and because a large part of the oil industry plainly prefers to stand by a good fellow rather than aid the Government, he will remain a free man to the end of the story.

Teapot Dome is back where it belongs. To that extent courtesy for the Government has been shown in overcoming the obstacles placed in its way by Sinclair & Co. But the criminal cases lag. And the harm that has been done to popular confidence in the administration of justice in this country is incalculable.

AN ENCOURAGING DECISION.

From the New York Evening World.
THE power of neither $10,000,000 nor even $100,000,000 is greater than the power of the United States Government or its instrumentalities of justice.

This is broadly and substantially the ques-

The office-seekers loudly bawl
Their views upon light wines and beer
The moment that they hear the call
At times to them alone so clear:
Yet, note this well, I greatly fear
They'll go the way the platforms go
And platforms from such issues veer.
But things were ever thus and so.

The birds are oft to sadness thrall,
At times the verse they write is drear.
They moan in song the story pall
That wraps the ladies they build dear.
The ruby lips that kissed to sear
Are dust in winds that vagrant blow.
Nor can fair Helen praise her hair.
But things were ever thus and so.

Death is the end that waits us all,
As vanished snow of yesterday
We enter, mute, that silent hall;
The jester, waiting ever near.
Rings down the curtain with a leer.
We know the end that all must know:
The prospect gives us little cheer.
But things were ever thus and so.

BLACK MAJESTY. By John Vandercook. (Harpers).

THE much-overworked fact that it is stranger than fiction, unlike many old saws are regularly repeated but examined, is well borne out in man experience. Nor is it wondered at that what happens so often surmounts the creative creations of men. Advantage is decidedly on the side of the fact possibilities, apparently fortuitous, take hold of which events are clearly under no compulsion to yield to the human sense, logic, and the most grotesque combinations may therefore be made. The critical faculty almost invariably fails at a moment of a standstill, the combinations of facts, in keeping with the laws of chance, are, and no fictioneer could compete with fertility such a head.

This mysterious process the call chance often results in a tale that is utterly fictitious; and then it is almost as if this chance were no blind thing, but a great creative power, weaving grandeur and even terror and pity and even ludicrous into a magnificent page of human meaning.

This something we call a simple dignity the story of tales in the Americas—where legends of astonishing tales that generally known, would make "realism" of our low-moping Toms of contemporary fiction look as silly as they shall appear later on. One of the strangest and most impressive these tales—truly worthy of chanting of great bards—is John Vandercook's "Black Majesty."

Of Making Many Books

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

The Slave Who Became a King

BLACK MAJESTY. By John W. Vandercook. (Harpers).

THE much-overworked saying that fact is stranger than fiction, unlike many old saws that are regularly repeated but never examined, is well borne out in this experience. Nor is it to be wondered at that what actually happens so often surpasses the imaginative creations of men. The advantage is decidedly on the side of the factual possibilities. The apparently fortuitous, kaleidoscopic water out of which events emerge is clearly under no compulsion to appeal to the human sense of logic and the most grotesque combinations may therefore be made—combinations that would outrage the critical faculty of almost any fictioneer. Also, from a mathematical standpoint, the possible combinations of fact are infinite, and no fictioneer could hope to compete with fortuity upon such a basis.

This mysterious process that we call chance often results in stories that seem utterly idiotic; but now and then it is almost as though this chance were no blind thing at all, but a great creative consciousness, weaving grandeur and pathos and terror and pity and even the ludicrous into a magnificent pattern of human meaning.

This something we call chance has created many marvelous true tales in the American whole history of astonishing tales that, if generally known, would make the very "realism" of our low-minded people look as silly as they are and make them appear later and even the most and most impressive of these tales—truly worthy of the chanting of great bards—is that which John Vandercook retells in "Black Majesty."

"Black Majesty" sets forth with simple dignity the story of the long struggle for independence by the Negroes of Haiti, under the leadership of Toussaint L'Ouverture, Jean Jacques Dessalines and Henry Christophe—a struggle which ended in the brief reign of Dessalines as a comic opera emperor, followed by the longer reign of Christophe as King indeed, the successful organizer and administrator of a realm that did not know when it was lucky and so fell back upon the beast.

Vandercook has evidently been at great pains to make his account authentic, and it is said that he has spent considerable time in Haiti, studying the country where his black heroes fought long against the power of the Great Napoleon himself, and ruled a little while, building magnificent "desolate places for themselves" before they passed into a story that now seems all but incredible.

There are many tales of men who rose to places of power from humble beginnings. But here was a black man who was born a slave and had not even the distinction of having a white master of importance, but belonged to another Negro. Christophe's early "education" consisted in hearing the drunken white masters talk in a pool hall where he worked for his owner as a boy; and he finished his education by associating with the strangely wise Toussaint in the years of fighting. Even after he had become king of his people, and one not lacking in wisdom and majesty, he used to remember with sorrow that he was "only an ignorant old man."

It would be possible for a more or less clever person to make the story of King Christophe of Haiti more than a little amusing; but Vandercook has viewed the whole strange, and glorious, noble, pathetic and sometimes slightly ludicrous spectacle as from a height of time, and the result is that when you close the book you feel ennobled.

In the current number of "Palms," the poetry magazine, Witter Bynner tells with gusto the story of the "Spectric" hoax which he and Arthur Davidson Ficke perpetrated with conspicuous success upon the distinguished poetry critics and literary sophisticates during 1914. It will be remembered that Ficke and Bynner, under the names of Anne Knapp and Emmanuel Morris, published a volume of so-called poetry entitled "Spectra." It was their intention to make the stuff as ridiculous as possible, and in a preface they explained the profound principles upon which this brand-new poetry was based. The stuff was swallowed in all seriousness and Bynner tells of various eminent critics and poets who were extremely enthusiastic about the new "school of poetry."

All this is very funny, but it is even funnier than it seems; for the fact is that hoaxing of the sort neither began nor ended with "Spectra." A very great percentage of all that has been and is being done under the name of free verse is hoaxing of the same sort and fools quite as many as did the "Spectric" joke. The only difference lies in the fact that Bynner and Ficke were joking; whereas it seems probable that in most cases the writers of such drivel actually succeed in fooling those who believe before fooling their readers.

BETTER ANGELS. By Richard Henry Little. (Minton, Balch & Co.)

When Richard Henry Little was a boy in Bloomington, Ill., he listened to the stories and legends of Lincoln that the old darkies told, and treasured them. When he was a man he drew stories from his storehouse of memories and told them as an old Mammy. Jimmie might have told them. In this one Mammy Jimmie tells about a boy soldier who had deserted without really intending to, and was to be shot and his sweetheart came pleading for him and because her name was Ann, the President, melting under a backwash of memories, pardoned the boy.

Carl Sandburg, who writes the introduction, says that the sketch, although not factual, nor to be accurately placed with the folklore of the times, is none the less more than fiction, and he suggests that "may belong in some old borderland between fiction and folklore, a story born from impressions of the stir of voices lingering from childhood." ## KEYSERLING EXPLAINS SNUBBING OF LUDWIG

Says Biographer Made Unjustifiable Statements About His Mother-in-Law, in Book.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The enmity of Count Herman Keyserling, philosopher and author, for Emil Ludwig, biographer of Napoleon and Bismarck, which was disclosed yesterday, is based not on political or religious differences, but on certain statements made by Ludwig in his book "Bismarck" about Count Keyserling's mother-in-law, the Princess Bismarck.

The Count explained his action in refusing to attend a dinner given by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst in January, because he knew Ludwig had been invited and would be present, in a telegram received yesterday by his lecture managers, the Leigh Emmerich Lecture Bureaus.

"Nothing could be more foolish," the telegram reads, "than calling me anti-Semitic in my prejudice against Germany. I am often attacked as a philo-Semite. As a matter of fact, I greatly admire the Jewish people. I consider them the one cultured race which has not degenerated since antiquity. You will find this opinion of mine contained in my new book, 'Europe,' which is to be published in America next month."

"My attitude toward Emil Ludwig is simply the result of his inaccurate and unjustifiable statements in his book on Bismarck, about the Princess Bismarck, my mother-in-law. Ludwig refused to change the text in his book after being informed of the true facts."

Both Keyserling and Ludwig now are on extended lecture tours throughout the United States. Keyserling now is in California, the guest of Charles R. Crane, former United States Minister to China, who also has his host in New York. The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation announced yesterday that it soon will produce a motion picture based on one of Ludwig's biographies.

Keyserling's best known works are his "Book of Marriage" and "Travel Diary of a Philosopher." He founded the School of Wisdom at Darmstadt, Germany.

EAST ST. LOUIS PUBLIC GARAGE

City Council Approves Expenditure of $50,000 for Building.

The erection of a public garage to cost $50,000, with entrances on Main and North Third streets, was approved yesterday by the East St. Louis City Council. The building, to be of brick and concrete, will be financed by the Arcade Garage Corporation.

The improvement of North Fifth-third street, between State street and the Louisville & Nashville tracks, at an estimated cost of $45,000, also was approved. The granting of a franchise to the Cahokia Manufacturers' Gas Co. will be voted on April 3. Other improvements before the council for first reading were: North Fifth street between Collinsville and Broadway; Linden between Fortieth and Vandalla; and Fortieth between College and St. Clair.

GIRLHOOD'S GREATEST BEAUTY CHOSEN

Film world says most appealing charm is smooth skin

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—Speaking eyes, enticing lips, beautiful hair—all these movie star may have but they avail her nothing, say directors. If she is not possessed of smooth skin, "Studio Skin" must be exquisitely smooth for Klieg lights are all-revealing in the close-ups.

Herbert Brenon, director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, says, "The most appealing single beauty a girl can have is certainly exquisitely lovely skin. And all Hollywood agrees that every actress who has become a star has had skin of exceptional loveliness."

Nine out of ten stars find Lux Toilet Soap a marvelous skin-smoothing skin. Betty Bronson, enchanting young star, enthusiastically declares, "I find this lovely soap is wonderful for my skin."

All the big film studios have placed Lux Toilet Soap in their dressing rooms, which indicates clearly enough how definitely they value smooth skin. Lux Toilet Soap is made by Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Day by Day in Europe

By O. O. McIntyre

PLYMOUTH, England. ON the starboard—old salt that O am—lies Plymouth, and our six-day floating village begins to disintegrate. A tender bobs in choppy channel waves to land half the passengers for the midnight sleeping train to London. The rest go on to Havre.

A few days ago we were Americans, and now we are foreigners. Plymouth stands sullen in a fog. Under a cabin window is the rattle of rich Cockney dialect. "Hi, say, Gunner!" shouts a beery old blighter. "Toss us a half bob, will yer—that's a good 'un."

England somehow always seems to reflect the sombre hue of its leaden skies. It fails to offer that quick, volatile warmth that comes with the first touch of France, yet in its dignity and aloofness you feel an intangible sincerity that France does not command.

You love France for its childish, simple gaiety, but in England you are gripped by the sterner emotion that "these are my people." Their coldness is ofttime annoying, but it is the annoyance in Germany I am often attacked as a philo-Semite.

For six days news of the outside world has been encompassed in the fragmentary reports in the ship's wireless newspaper. It seems to aim for unimportant dispatches from unimportant places. An Afghanistan Prince has tonsillitis, or such. So there was a lively scramble for the London Times and the Daily Mail.

But the leading headline in the Times, "Discussion in Parliament," did not offer great comfort. The stodge of Britain in contrast to the briskness of America is completely symbolized by newspaper headlines. A big shaggy sheepdog with a cup of beer around its neck just trotted into our cabin.

The way my dog leaped atop a trunk with a series of terrified yelps indicated he thought he had come face to face with the British lion. The friendly animal was merely collecting coins for a seaman's fund, and his amiability completely won over my pooch, who is following him about as devotedly as a hound trails a covered wagon.

MONUMENT TO FIRST GLIDER

Wright Brothers' Achievement Honored at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

By the Associated Press.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 1.—A monument to be placed in the yard of the Methodist parsonage at Kitty Hawk, on the spot where the Wright brothers assembled their first glider in the early experiments that led to the development of the airplane, has just been completed here and turned over to a group of its sponsors. The monument is an obelisk fashioned of gray Vermont marble and was carved by P. A. Berry of this city. At the top is a likeness of the glider, a box kite affair, and under it is this inscription: "On this spot, Sept. 17, 1900, Wilbur Wright began the assembly of the Wright brothers' first experimental glider which led to man's conquest of the air. Erected by citizens of Kitty Hawk, N. C., 1928."

ENE, our cabin steward with high excitement and magnificent shoulder shrugging, that twins were born in the night to a mother in the steerage. Her worldly assets consisted of $9, but a collection amounting to more than $200 was realized in an hour.

AN American crowd, incidentally, is touched by sentiment as no other nationality. We hear much of the European charm of manner, but it is noticed the deference paid to the aged and invalids aboard ship is among our "uncouth" countrymen.

THERE is excitement, today over a young girl who, with that rare courage of youth, came aboard at New York without a passport. France is strict about such formalities and there is already betting she will not be permitted to land, and will be forced to return on the same ship. She laughs with girlish freshness at the very idea.

UT the real excitement of the voyage was in the tender at Plymouth when a ruddy, rotund man touched a passenger on the shoulder. It was the long arm of Scotland Yard we read about in the news. Reaching out for an offender. As the story swung from lip to lip, the incident ends a chase of many months, and although the prisoner did not know it, his cabin companion was also from the Yard. The whole thing was the culmination of a blackmailing affair in Monte Carlo.

ONE of the table companions was a gentleman in slouchy dress and with a walrus mustache—the type you rather expected might take a horn out of his pocket and begin selling fish. But at Plymouth he was met by a band in fur drum major hats with chin straps and it developed he was a Lord Mayor of an English city returning from a tour of America. Travel is broadening. One learns you can never tell a Lord Mayor by the cut of his vest. Copyright, 1928.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

REFUSES TO ENJOIN POLICE IN SEIZURE OF SEX MOVIE

Judge Owsing Sets Hearing for March 7; Warrant Against Manager of Theater.

Circuit Judge Owsing yesterday refused to restrain police temporarily from stopping the showing of "Pittfalls of Passion," a movie, at the Capitol Theater, Sixth and Chestnut streets, but issued an order on police to show cause, March 7, why a permanent injunction should not be granted.

The theater management had applied for a restraining order and injunction after police stopped the show Tuesday.

They believe that public opinion will be so aroused by the disclosure of the scope of the intervention, that the Senate will vote for a public inquiry into its hidden causes.

Back of the State Department's action in ordering the invasion of Nicaragua, it has been charged, is the determination of certain New York banks to acquire control of the principal national assets of that country.

NAMES OF MARINES KILLED, WOUNDED BY SANDINO'S BAND

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 1. With five United States Marines dead after being trapped in a jungle ambush, the United States forces were mauling in northern Nicaragua today.

Followers of Gen. Sandino, the insurgent leader, by ambushing a patrol of 35 men Monday, dealt the marines the severest blow they have suffered since they drove the insurgents from their strongholds at Quilali and El Chipote in January. Eight marines were wounded in the clash which occurred near Darail.

As soon as word of the encounter was received, three detachments of marines were sent from points in the vicinity. Capt. William K. MacNulty of the 11th regiment, who was on another mission with 45 men, also joined forces with Lieut. Edward F. O'Day, leader of the ambushed patrol.

Three Killed in Action. Three marines were killed in the action and two died from their wounds. Those slain were: Private John C. Pump, Council Bluffs, Ia.; George E. Robbins, San Antonio, Tex.; and Albert Schlauch, Jamestown, N. D.

Those who died from their wounds were Corporal Charles D. Austin, Crockett, Tex., and Private Curtis J. Mott, Trenton, Wash.

Private Lem C. Davis, whose address was not given, was seriously wounded, being shot in the left shoulder.

Those slightly wounded were: Sergeant Wilbourn C. Christian, Northport, Ala., shot in hip; Sergeant Charles Hisham, Longview, Wash., shot in thigh; Private Lewis E. Ballard, Troy, N. Y., shot in foot; Private Raymond B. Carter, Payson, Utah, shot in leg; Private Peter C. Crum, Omaha, Neb., shot in foot; Private Linton C. Maynard, Ranger, Tex., shot in elbow, and Private Clarence E. Phelps, Portland, Colo., injuries not stated.

The Darail fight was the second most serious engagement in which the marines have participated in the seven and one-half months' campaign in Nicaragua. Six marines were killed and 25 wounded when Sandino was driven out of Quilali early in January. More than a dozen other skirmishes resulted in the deaths of eight marines and the wounding of half a dozen others.

The trapped detachment was returning with a train of 30 mules from Yall, where they had just delivered supplies to their base at Condega.

As they advanced through the rugged jungle country, machine gun and rifle fire from the heavy brush mowed down their ranks. The insurgents were finally driven off. Whether they suffered any casualties was not known here.

Lieut. O'Day apparently spent the night at the scene of the battle burying the dead and treating the wounded.

Today, however, he was making his way slowly to Condega, carrying the injured. From that base he was expected to telegraph the first real story of the battle to Ocala from where it would be radioed to marine headquarters here.

The sketchy facts now known here were obtained by Capt. Robert J. Archibald from his plane circling over a panel message laid on the ground by the marines. Sandino apparently laid his ambush in the hope of capturing food and ammunition, but the train already had deposited its supplies at Yall and was returning to Estel. Other marine patrols came into contact with the irregulars at scattered points during the last few days. There were no marine casualties, however. Six Marines and nine National Guardsmen drove off a band of 30 which fired at them at long range when they were about eight miles north of Telapana.

A plane was fired on near Jicote from a barn. The flyers, Lieut. Michael Wodarczyk and Sergt. Thomas Whitman, returned the fire and bombed the building.

Takes Glycerine Mixture—Gas All Gone

"As soon as I ate I was in misery. I tried Adlerika, and to my surprise it ended stomach gas entirely. I eat anything I want now."—T. M. Schlabach.

The simple mixture of Muckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisons the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, writes: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli."

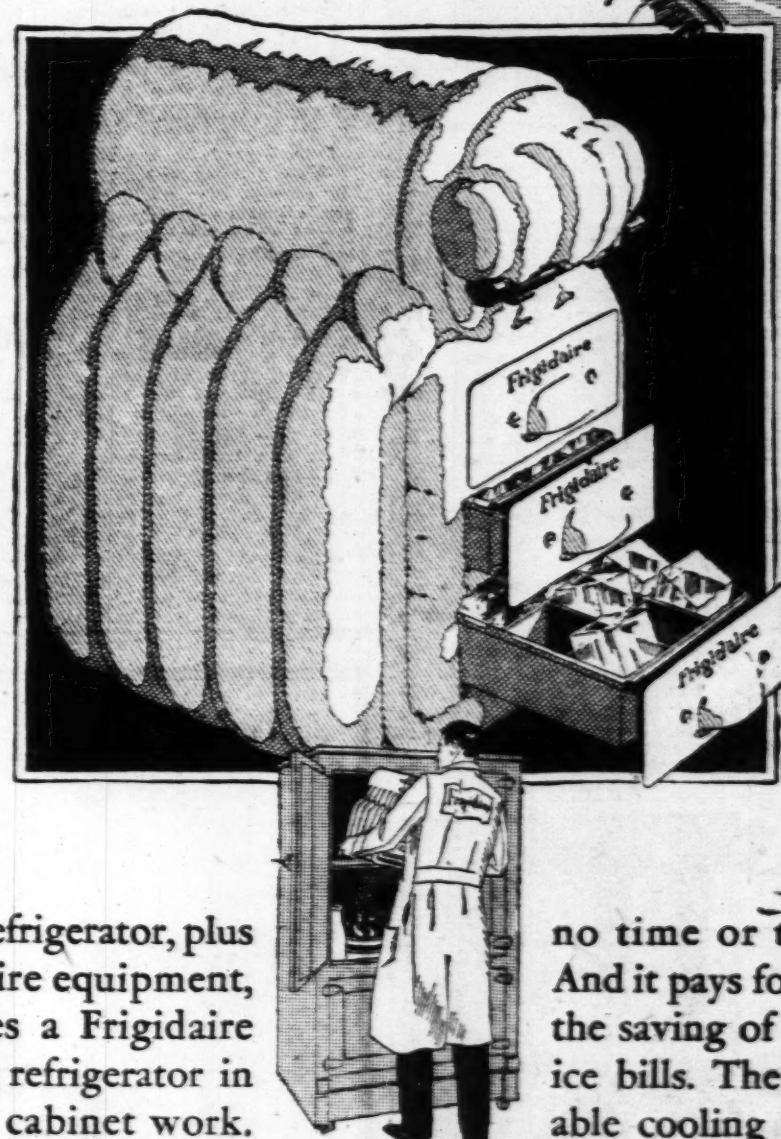

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to equal Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated. It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in St. Louis by Wolff-Whelan Drug Stores and other druggists."

FOLLOWING TRAIL OF GEN. SANDINO THROUGH NICARAGUA

be conducted by Capt. Pedro Altamirano, who will take them to the place where I am to be found. Let their march be rapid in order to reach my camp soon. I greet you in company with your family. Patria y Libertad!

"A. C. SANDINO.

"P. S.—Have them come before the battle at Jinotega which we intend launching. Vale!"

We broke camp early next morning and began our forced pilgrimage with Colindres' soldiers and Juanas through risky country to Remango. We circled the Reten El Retiro, where the marines now were burning the houses—smoke curled up grimly over the sides of the mountain. At El Remango we found Altamirano and about 75 soldiers.

Capt. Altamirano is a rough, middle-aged soldier who has fought all over Nicaragua and Honduras. He is ponderous, slow and sure, both in thought and speech. He was dressed in white flannel, a pink sash, and a lemon-colored shirt without buttons, over which was criss-crossed a cartridge belt. Over one shoulder was slung a plaid cloth bag. His face was covered with a week's growth of beard. Here, too, was a column of 30-odd men whom Sandino had disposed to accompany me to his encampment, wherever it was to be found.

My hopes of reaching Sandino brightened visibly.

PREPAREDNESS FOR WAR URGED BY REED IN SPEECH

afternoon when he will depart for San Francisco.

Reed's Name to Be Entered in California Primary.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 1.—The name of Senator Reed will be entered in the California presidential primary May 1 with his consent, Milton K. Young, chairman of the Reed-for-President Club of Los Angeles, announced today.

The announcement was made after Young had conferred with Reed, who is here on a campaign tour. The State will send 26 delegates to the Democratic convention at Houston.

Friends of Gov. Al Smith of New York have stated they expect him to file his name in the primary. Some of the followers of William G. McAdoo, who some months ago announced withdrawal from the race for the presidential nomination, think some candidate representing the McAdoo policies will enter.

Overwhelming expression of admiration from the rank and file of Southern California Democrats was the chief development of the second day of Senator Reed's visit here. Since noon Tuesday, a continuous stream of men and women has passed through his suite at the Biltmore to pass a word of greeting and praise of his recent senatorial activities.

"If anything was needed to assure me that a Reed delegation will go from California to Houston in June," said Young, "the wonderful reception given the Senator would more than do so, we had no idea that he had been taken into the hearts of the rank and file of Democrats here to the extent his reception signifies."

Reed-for-President headquarters have been opened here at 241 South Hill street, and Reed clubs are said to have been organized in 12 or 15 other Southern cities. Senator Reed was a guest this morning at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, but refrained from any political discussion. Tonight he addresses a meeting at the Olympic Auditorium here and tomorrow will speak at Long Beach. He plans to leave tomorrow night for San Francisco.

VACATES $10,000 JUDGMENT

AGAINST MRS. BILLY SUNDAY JR. Los Angeles Judge Permits Defendant in $50,000 Alienation Suit to File Answer.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, March 1.—Denying that she alienated the affections of George E. Day of this city, Mrs. Billy Sunday Jr., divorced wife of the son of the evangelist, has filed an answer to the $50,000 alienation suit brought by Mrs. Olive Day.

Mrs. Day accused Mrs. Sunday Jr. of intimacy with her husband, and asserted that upon one occasion Mrs. Sunday Jr. induced Day to permit her to remain in his home overnight. Mrs. Sunday Jr., who was divorced several months ago, yesterday made a complete denial of the charges.

At a hearing on the suit last week Mrs. Sunday Jr. was ordered to pay damages of $10,000 when the case was settled by default. Her attorney insisted that a verbal agreement had been made with Mrs. Day's attorney for extending the time for filing an answer, and that for this reason his client was absent when the order was made. The order was vacated yesterday by Superior Judge Leon Yankwich when the answer was filed.

EARTHQUAKE IN MONTANA

HELENA, Mont., March 1.—Little if any damage was caused by a series of earthquakes in South Central Montana yesterday, reports reaching here today from towns in the Gallatin Valley indicated. The shocks, coming late in the afternoon, continued for upwards of 10 seconds. The tremors were described as the most severe since June, 1925, when many buildings in this section were damaged.

THREE MONTHS AND $100 FINE FOR FLORISSANT EX-MARSHAL

John Mueller, former City Marshal of Florissant yesterday was found guilty of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Robert Macklin, during a street fight in Florissant, April 5 last. The minimum penalty of $100 fine and three months in jail was fixed by the jury which heard the case in Clayton Circuit Court.

There were 12 witnesses for the State, some of whom testified the shooting was not in self-defense but that Mueller had opened fire on Macklin and Joseph Richter, a rural mail carrier who was with Macklin. Richter, who was shot in the foot during the affray, was a witness for the State.

Mueller was the only defense witness. He testified Macklin and Richter attacked him from behind and that he shot in self-defense. A member of the jury said leniency had been shown Mueller because of his age and the fact that he was a peace officer at the time of the shooting. Mueller is 72 years old. He had served as City Marshal of Florissant for 20 years.

Pine Lawn Incorporation Meeting.
A meeting of residents of Pine Lawn will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at 627 Natural Bridge road at which a committee will report on plans for incorporation of the community. If the report is approved petitions will be circulated for a decree of incorporation.

look! have you
"YELLOW MASK?"

Look in Your Mirror. Are Your Lovely White Teeth Overshadowed by a Yellowish Hue? Then Read This.

WHY is it that daily brushings fail to remove that unbecoming yellowish tinge from your teeth?

We'll tell you. In your saliva is a "liquid cement." This has glued to your teeth and hardened. Forming a thin, glassy mask right over the white enamel. Food, coffee and tobacco have stained this mask yellow.

Though it is much softer than tooth enamel, ordinary dentifrices cannot remove it. They gloss right over it. And they will continue to do that because a special, non-gritty substance must be used to banish that "Yellow Mask" and free the hidden whiteness.

This substance is "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." Foremost dentists use it for the cleaning and polishing of difficult-to-whiten teeth. It can't harm the most delicate enamel—but it certainly goes after "Yellow Mask."

Now here's the glad tidings! Dental science has succeeded in composing a tasty, fragrant tooth paste of this wonderful "Tri-Calcium Phosphate." So its magic can work for you daily!

This new dentifrice is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. You will want to try it immediately. A million women and men have forsaken old-style dentifrices for ORPHOS in the last six months alone. Dentists everywhere are advising patients to use it. Its public and professional reception is overwhelming.

ORPHOS will delight you. And we know it will make your teeth gleam. But we go further—we guarantee it. Buy a tube of ORPHOS today. Try it 20 days. If, by a single chance, it fails to give you the glorious whiteness you expect, return the unused part of the tube to your druggist and receive your money back. Now go after "Yellow Mask!"

When Skinny Men Grow Manly

Five or 10 Pounds of Flesh on Their Bones Make a Lot of Difference.

Out in the country they used to say "Just as thin as a fence rail," and after Jim had somehow managed to grow more shapely and add more weight they used to say:

"Jim's a real good-looking fellow since he took on flesh."

And that's the way it goes all over the world: the skinny, gaunt man can never be attractive or look manly until he puts more flesh on his scantly covered bones.

Many thin men have gained in weight and at the same time in vigor and attractiveness—no thin man can do it unless he tries.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, Walgreen Co., or any drug store in America.

JUDGE UPHOLDS LIQUOR RAID MADE ON BASIS OF SMELL

Search Warrants Unnecessary If Agents Detect Odor of Still, Minneapolis Court Rules.

By the Associated Press. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 1.—When a prohibition agent's nose tells him an illicit still is in operation, he may search the suspected premises without a search warrant, the United States District Court here held today.

Judge Joseph W. Molyneux, in the opinion, said he "can see no difference between seeing a still in operation and smelling a still in operation." A raid made by officers who sniffed their way into a home here was held legal.

To permit consideration of the question in higher Federal Courts, Judge Molyneux granted defendants an exception to his ruling, thus paying the way for an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The raid held legal was made Dec. 12, without search warrants, on the home of William Rushet and Joseph Durnka. The Court denied the defendants' motion to suppress the evidence seized in the raid, including a still and some moonshine.

Federal Judge Louis M. Burns of the Eastern Louisiana District ruled a week ago that prohibition agents had exceeded their authority in making a raid on a home near which they said they smelled alcohol. A search warrant had been obtained. The agents said they found a distilling outfit in the house.

Missouri Survey for Barge Line.

By the Associated Press. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 1.—William S. Smallwood and C. Kirkpatrick of Washington have arrived here to make a survey of the probable tonnage available for a barge line on the Missouri River. The survey is being made along the river from St. Louis to Tanhannon, S. D. The report of the findings will go to President Coolidge and Congress.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—tick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them 10c 30c 60c.

TIED HIS HANDS AND FEET TO MAKE DROWNING CERTAIN

Body of Farmer, 70, Is Taken From Creek Near Fair Play, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch: FAIR PLAY, Mo., March 1.—After tying his hands and feet together behind him, to make drowning certain, James Gamble, 70 years old, rolled over into Bear Creek, according to the verdict of Coroner C. R. Blue. Gamble's body was recovered from the creek Monday, about three miles south of his farm home, after bloodhounds, obtained from Springfield, when Gamble was reported missing Sunday, had followed a wandering trail to the creek bank.

In the soft earth at the creek, searchers found evidence that Gamble had been alone and that he had tied his hands and feet before rolling into the shallow water. Gamble, a former soldier, took great pride in the number of difficult knots he could tie. It is said. He is reported to have been dependent for about a year. His widow survives him.

CLASH OF TEXTS DELAYS FRENCH ANSWER TO U. S.

Two Versions of Havana Resolution to Outlaw War Cause Confusion in Paris.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, March 1.—The utmost confusion now reigning in the French Foreign Office which is confronted by two texts of resolutions adopted at Havana outlawing war, may delay the French reply to the last note of Secretary of State Kellogg for several days.

The text of the Havana resolution published in French official circles yesterday "outlawing wars of aggression" was cabled by French Ambassador Claudel Tuesday, the Ambassador adding that this was the resolution to which the Kellogg note referred.

The other text of the resolution adopted Feb. 18 by the Pan-American Conference at Havana was delivered to Foreign Minister Briand last night by Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France. This outlaws "war as an instrument of national policy" and consequently presents a different angle in the negotiations now in progress between France and the United States on a treaty outlawing war.

The French Government today was awaiting a reply from Ambassador Claudel on the text matter before beginning the drafting of an answer.

A pessimistic atmosphere prevailed today in French official circles, more so than at any previous time since the negotiations were opened. It was pointed out that had the United States approved the Havana resolution as cabled by Ambassador Claudel, it would have been so similar to that adopted at Geneva in September, 1927, that grounds of an agreement were certain to be reached.

League Officials Can't Reconcile Words of U. S. Policy.

Copyright, 1928, by the Press and Publishing Co., (The New York World and Post-Dispatch).

GENEVA, March 1.—Although appreciating the "purity and simplicity of Secretary of State Kellogg's proposal to outlaw war, both League officials and members of delegations attending the session of the Security Committee yesterday found difficulty in reconciling the note with American policy as indicated at Havana.

S. Pinkney Tuck, United States Consul here, has presented a copy of the Kellogg note to the League and it was circulated to all officials and the Security Committee.

It is commented that, although the United States refused to designate an observer to the Security Commission because of the fear of political entanglements, Kellogg's proposal is even more pregnant with potentialities for political complications.

In itself the proposal is regarded as immensely important and meriting the most serious study both by the League and by the big Powers which will be asked to sign the multilateral treaty outlawing war. But League officials do not conceal the seriousness of difficulties which must be overcome in order to conform with the covenant.

GRABOWSKI MAY WIN REGULAR BERTH WITH CARDINALS' HILL STAFF

M'KECHNIE IS GIVING ROOKIE SPECIAL WORK

Dyer's "Dead" Arm Forces Leader of St. Louis Nationals to Look Elsewhere for Left Hand.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

AVON PARK, Fla., March 1.—From the seven left-handed pitchers in camp, Manager Bill McKechnie is determined to develop at least one addition to his staff of 1927, on which there were but two southpaws, Bill Sheredd and Arthur Reinhart. This fact was emphasized yesterday, when Al Grabowski, the chap who hurled a no-hit game for Syracuse two years ago, was ushered to the pitching hill for an exceptionally long workout during which the Cardinal boss, Coach Jack Onslow, who was behind the plate, and Coach Al Sothoron, who stood behind the box, personally supervised and corrected his delivery.

Eddie Dyer had been counted on heavily to fill in the existing vacancy which McKechnie plans to turn over to a left-hander but, because of the reappearance of Eddie's usual sore arm in spring training, the Cards' boss has been disappointed and is, apparently, now turning his attention to Grabowski.

Dyer's arm has developed soreness and instead of pitching he spends his entire time around first base daily.

Must Pitch or Else.

"I want you to get out there and pitch," McKechnie told Dyer when he met him in the trainer's room last night. "You need not play first base or hit unless you can pitch. You are with us as a pitcher and unless you can come through as such, you cannot help the Cardinals."

Whether Dyer's arm is actually "gone" or whether the soreness will gradually work out is problematical. In the meantime, Grabowski may edge his way into a regular berth.

Grabowski's main difficulty, as McKechnie sees it, is his delivery. In pitching, Al throws his left arm so far behind him that he reveals exactly what he intends to do. McKechnie is teaching Grabowski to bring his glove around on his right hand to conceal the ball as it is brought around with the left, thus covering up the grip he has on the horse hide.

Blades Fails to Limp.

With an overflow of good material on hand for the pitching staff, attention naturally must be paid to the infield and outfield, where a few problems must be solved. The infield will shape up fairly well as soon as Bottomley and Frisch take their regular stations. But with Hafey and Douthett still absent, the gardening positions may be used freely this spring as a means of testing the young talent quartermen.

Ray Blades dispelled all belief that he might be unable to play regularly this summer when he when to the outfield yesterday and, for the first time vigorously joined in the practice, chasing liners and long flies and throwing with accuracy to the infield in a special session held for the outfielders after the rest of the team had brought its work to a conclusion.

The limp, noticeable when Blades appeared here with the Cardinals last year, has entirely disappeared.

KILLEFER SAYS YOUNG HURLERS MAY SURPRISE

Coach Right Now Is Trying to Make Nevers Into Winner for Browns for 1928 Campaign.

By W. J. McGoogan.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 1.—Helping Manager Dan Howley to solve the Browns' most serious problem, that of pitching, is Coach Bill Killefer, a man who has had a world of experience in such work and who rates highly among teachers of hurling technique. He is noted for his skill in bringing pitchers to their top form by the time the baseball season opens.

But was a little late getting to camp this spring, due to illness in his family, but once he arrived he immediately went to work at the task of whipping the Browns' young staff of mound artists into the best possible condition.

During each daily practice session, Killefer moves about the field with a suggestion here and a word of advice there to the men who will shoulder the burden of defending the state of the other seven clubs in the American League. And when the day's work in the open air is finished, Killefer continues his counsel in the hotel. It is not an uncommon sight to see him in the clubhouse in his hand showing a young pitcher the best way to grasp a ball or handing out advice as to the proper way to keep an arm functioning smoothly.

But has been busy the past few days instructing the men in pitching moves, demonstrating the best way to catch runners off bases and how to pitch a ball so the hurler may be in position to field a bunt or a tap, if a batter should try to catch him napping.

That is only one of the many things which Killefer does. He has tackled the problem of how to make Ernie Nevers a better pitcher. He should be with the natural ability he possesses. He is helping Nevers develop an overhand delivery which he thinks will improve Ernie's efficiency greatly, as it will enable him to take greater advantage of his tremendous height and weight. Nevers has been accustomed to an underhand or side arm motion and baseball coaches have been quick to point out that he was trying to do too much, that he had an effective overhand delivery.

The big Californian is a willing student, according to Killefer. "Ernie Nevers is a kid so anxious to learn and improve himself," Bill said yesterday while watching the big fellow loosen up his arm. "That is the reason he has a chance to become a great pitcher. I have never seen a kid so anxious to learn and Nevers will do anything he is told if it will help him better his effectiveness on the mound."

This spring Killefer is frankly anxious, but not without a great deal of hope, concerning the Browns' mound staff.

"Some of the younger hurlers were hollering for chances last season to start games," Killefer says. "They'll get the opportunity this year for we have practically nothing but youngsters and they may surprise us all."

"Of course we have Sam Gray and Johnny Ogden. Gray got off to a bad start last year and after he lost a few games for the Athletics he was trying to do too much every time he went into the box. I think he will come through all right. Ogden has been a winner in the minor leagues a long time and though never in the majors he knows how to pitch."

"Walter Stewart is a bit frail still from his serious illness of the past winter. But he is a good southpaw and will help us."

"Most of the others are young and I would like to wait until they pitch in a few games before saying anything."

Infielder Lu Blue Reports.

Lu Blue, first baseman obtained by the Browns in the winter deal with Detroit blew into camp last night and announced that he was ready for work. He'll get it. They all do here. Howley chased his men through a long batting and fielding drill yesterday and there is more of the same scheduled today. The players want to play some practice games among themselves and it wouldn't be surprising if the manager granted them their wish before this week ends.

Bill Frisch was another arrival. The club's business manager came into town to look the situation over, told some funny stories and went to the beach for some salt water bathing after announcing that there were no deals pending. He also stated that the squad probably would not be cut until near the end of the training season.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—C. Davis of Columbus, O., definitely clinched his third national title in the amateur record book by winning yesterday's final round of the championship horsehoe tournament.

WESTERN LOSES CHANCE FOR TIE IN BASKET RACE

McBride Gains 27 to 24 Victory Over Alton Quintet in Preparatory League Contest.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 1.—Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., and Tom Heeney of New Zealand move into the first part of Tex Rickard's new heavyweight elimination series in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. The winner probably will be accorded recognition as the next challenger of Champion Gene Tunney.

When the boxers enter the ring, they will be rated equally to take the victory despite Heeney's advantage of some 20 pounds over Delaney. In doing out the result for this fight, the majority of ring critics have straddled the fence.

Many observers feel that Delaney must knock out Heeney within the first six or seven rounds if he is to win. The New Zealander is considered a rugged boxer of the plugging type who absorbs plenty of punishment for the sake of wearing down his opponent. Heeney never has been counted out.

Boys and Girls made Strong in Two Weeks!

It is what they eat—and how it agrees—that has most to do with the sturdy growth of youngsters. Fruits are fine; don't ask them to eat more of these than their inclination. For the same reason, don't start this daily reminder of it. You'll see sure digestion, and a healthy appetite, sound liver and bowels. Its quiet persuasion is all that even severe or chronic constipation calls for, and it is fairly regular elimination is begun with the first spoonful of fig syrup; in a few days you will see a clear-eyed and care-free child whose tongue doesn't coat, and whose mind and body are not slowed by sour bile or any other accumulations. It is much the same with a bilious baby; no harm, but only good can come from fig syrup even though given to the tiniest infant. So don't use harsh cathartics, even though the children apparently suffer no ill effects. A spoonful of delicious fig syrup is far better. But the genuine California fig syrup is the kind to buy, and if you always say, "California" and look for it on the generous sixty-cent bottle, you'll get the pure product.

Take Scott's Organic Iron Tonic For Health

War Veteran Tells Remarkable Story of His Recovery—Women Praise This Blood Builder in Cases of Stomach and Kidney Trouble.

Thousands of people are now finding out how promptly, surely, easily Nature provides help. People tied up in knots with stomach trouble in 28 minutes have felt fine. People crippled with back pains in a week have stepped out like youngsters. People tortured with rheumatic pains in 48 hours suddenly found relief! Hospital tests show that a person suffering from weakness increased the red blood corpuscles 200%. Now reliable authorized druggists offer you a guaranteed 7-day treatment of Scott's Organic Iron Tonic. Try it today; a dollar bottle (7 days' treatment) either banishes your trouble or your money back! Makes rich red blood that increases your resistance against all diseases; carries off poisons; increases appetite; works your kidneys.

"I was in the war and came home a total wreck—shell shocked and in a terrible nervous rundown condition. I could not hold down a job because of my weakened condition, and I have been in this condition more or less for all these years. I had no appetite, and when I did eat, my food felt like lead in my stomach. A friend asked me to try Scott's Organic Iron Tonic. Now I am very thankful to state that I feel like I did before I went to war—strong, full of pep, and this great change came about by me taking Scott's Organic Iron Tonic. Since I have regained my health I have gotten a new position as a traveling salesman and am making good with this renewed vigor and vitality. The whole picture of life looks different. Thanks to Scott's Tonic."

D. S. Lake, Brunswick Hotel, Kansas City, Mo.

"I have been troubled with Stomach and Kidney trouble for several years. In July, 1920, I was taken with a very bad case of Dropsy Poison and was not expected to live. After leaving the hospital it was for months that I could not get anything without being distressed, and I was so nervous and weak that I could hardly walk. My husband brought me a bottle of Scott's Organic Iron Tonic, and almost the first dose helped me. I can eat almost anything I want and not be distressed. I have gained in weight and strength until I can do my own work and I feel 100% better. I can highly recommend SCOTT'S ORGANIC IRON TONIC to anyone suffering from Stomach or Kidney trouble or nervous and run-down condition."

Mrs. W. A. Cox, 3026 Charlotte St., Kansas City, Mo.

Scott's Organic Iron Tonic is not a patent medicine. It is a product of Mother Earth—a great natural discovery. Does not discolor the teeth or upset the most delicate stomach. Does not contain any alcohol or narcotics. Builds rich red blood and is taken for rheumatism, lumbago, indigestion, stomach trouble, kidney troubles. Get a dollar bottle today.

POWER RATES CUT TO PCT. AT MACON

City Has Operated Plant at Profit of $5000 Over Three-Year Period.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MACON, Mo., March 1.—A city ordinance cutting the rates for electrical service of all kinds 10 per cent was approved by the City Council Tuesday night.

Under the new schedule the maximum of 10 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour was cut to 6 cents. Users of from 5001 to 10,000 kilowatt hours per month, 3 cents per kilowatt hour; from 50,001 and above kilowatt hours per month, 1 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour.

The municipality owns and operates the electric plant. In the past three years the lines have been almost entirely rebuilt, the lighting service has been extended to every street in the city, a new engine has been added to the serv-

CHECKING UP ON HOUSEHOLD WASTE

By Hannah Wing

THE use and abuse of equipment could well come in for sharp scrutiny when household waste is up for discussion. How many women have bought this or that piece of equipment and never or seldom use either because they don't know how or when to use it to advantage or because they bought foolishly? If you have a piece of equipment not in use, find out why and either use it or get rid of it. If you have kitchen kettles you never use, something is wrong. If new equipment will save time or money, get it, but be sure you intend to use it, and when you get it, take care of it.

Oiling equipment regularly will save dollars in depreciation. So simple a trick as keeping cutlery in pockets rather than thrown in a drawer saves its edges. Rubber tips on the faucets over the sink save breakage of china and rubber tips on the chair's save floors as well as nerves.

Our grandmothers were considered thrifty and good managers. If living under the conditions of the present day, we should find them saving pennies by:

Continually cleaning the dirt from the walls above radiators or registers and thus lengthening the service of paint or paper.

Keeping the house at an even temperature of 70 degrees.

Keeping slip covers on upholstered furniture.

Saving linen by using lunch cloths and doilies.

Cleaning and waxing floors regularly.

Always remembering to turn out the cellar light.

Shutting off all water faucets tightly when not in use.

Protecting comforts at the top by easily washed muslin strips.

Once the children in the family have been budgeted, they should be taught to measure their own relationship to the family income and learn for themselves how far they can aid in conserving it. Penalties given promiscuously to children for candy, sodas and movies amount to considerable sums not reckoned in the budget and have the worse effect of creating wrong food habits and no knowledge of money value or responsibility.

The question of health is too personal a question to make any generalization about it. There is no doubt that health is in many homes a big leak and often a preventable one in the budget. Many more things affect health than are often considered. In order to be as impersonal as possible, certain questions can be raised which would lead to an unsuspected leak in one's health account or point the way to a stronger fortification of a weak spot.

Are you spending money on your health? Are you spending money to make yourself well? Was your illness preventable? Are you spending money to keep yourself well? Is this economy? Does your health prevent your doing as you please? Do you exercise that your financial condition makes necessary? What are you doing to safeguard your health? Do you intelligently avoid conditions that might lead to disease, such as overeating, overdrinking, overwork, and so on?

Do you give proper care to your body? Do you keep your teeth clean? Do you keep your teeth in repair? Do you eat simple, wholesome food at regular meal-times? Do you keep your intestines clean? Do you protect your eyes against strain? Do your feet need attention? Do you wear comfortable, sensible shoes? Do you live in well-ventilated, well-lit rooms? Do you breathe deeply and freely? Do your nose and throat need attention? Do you maintain a cheerful atmosphere?

Do you go to bed and rest as much as you should? Do you exercise outdoors as much as you should? Do you allow time for wholesome recreation?

The items of incidental and personal expenses are loosely defined in any budget, and often no sum is apportioned to them. They are supposed to take the left-overs, if any, and for this reason are viewed with neither questioning nor alarm.

Far be it from any adviser to suggest whether or not a woman should or should not wash her own hair or manicure her own nails, or whether eggs and milk had better be bought for the family instead of expensive perfume; but suffice it to say that sundry items in these classes will bear watching. Magazines bought at subscription rates rather than at news-stands, regular funded subscriptions to charity rather than emotional giving, and a planned vacation may help in these matters.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

A HAPPY FRIGHT

A fright that leaves you feeling glad Is hardly to be classed as bad.
—Old Mother Nature.

SO you see there are good frights and bad frights. We usually think of frights as being bad, but you will find that not infrequently frights end happily. If you doubt this just ask Whitefoot the Wood Mouse, he knows.

You know Whitefoot had gone back to the Green Forest in search of Mrs. Whitefoot. He didn't know exactly where to look for her, but he suspected she would be somewhere around the place where he had last seen her, before he was caught by Black Pussy the Cat and carried up to Farmer Brown's. It hadn't occurred to Whitefoot to think that anything might have happened to her. Now it suddenly popped into his head that she might have been caught by some one during his absence. "I was caught by Black Pussy," thought Whitefoot. "She may have been caught by Black Pussy or she may have been caught by Reddy Fox or Hooty the Owl or Old Man Coyote or Shadow the Weasel or Towler the Rabbit. She may have been caught by any one of these and I wouldn't know it. No, sir, I wouldn't know a thing about it. Oh, dear, I do hope that nothing of the kind has happened. Why, I wouldn't know what to do without Mrs. Whitefoot."

It appeared that Whitefoot had quite forgotten that he had been living for some time without Mrs. Whitefoot. The more he thought about it the more dismay filled his heart. He began to hurry faster than ever. He was so worried for fear he wouldn't be able to find Mrs. Whitefoot that he quite forgot the possible dangers which might be awaiting him. I believe that if Reddy Fox had been around there Whitefoot would have run right into his mouth without seeing him. That is what worry will do to people.

Suddenly Whitefoot sat up and listened. Those little round ears of his are very sharp. They heard a sound back of him. It sounded very much like the very faint scratch of tiny toenails on the crusty snow. It seemed to Whitefoot that his heart jumped right up in his throat. It didn't because it couldn't. But that is the way it seemed. Perhaps you have had a sudden fright and so know just how Whitefoot felt. His first and only thought was of Shadow the Weasel. He waited only to make sure that he hadn't been mistaken in the sound. There it was again! You couldn't have heard it. "I couldn't have heard it," said Whitefoot to himself. "But I don't want to see what was coming. Away he went! Fortunately he was not very far from a certain tree, a dead tree, in which was an old home of

Up the tree he fled and popped in at the little round entrance

Downy the Woodpecker. Whitefoot had used that hole in the tree more than once. He made for it now. He didn't know where else to go. If that were Shadow behind him there wasn't much hope.

We Thank You!

To the thousand of persons who were our guests during our "Open House" evenings we express our sincere thanks for the acceptance of our invitation. We trust that each one enjoyed the visit to the home of Colonial Bread.

To the grocers, too, we are particularly grateful, as it was with their cooperation that our "Open House" program was made a success.

To those who have not visited us we extend an invitation to come and be shown through the bakery. We feel sure it will prove an interesting experience. The bakery is open every day except Sunday.

Prints Will Have Their Way All Through the Day

PRINTS all the day through is the fashion rule for spring. And the ways of the print are innumerable. One-piece, two-piece, opolero type of frock; small floral print, conventional design, bold or soft colors—surely it is an easy matter to find the print that is best suited to one's particular style or general color scheme for the season.

French couturiers and American designers often combine the same pattern in two different fabrics, or a floral pattern sometimes is allied with a geometrical one, such as the polka dot. This, by the way, is having a very marked vogue. Another interesting and effective handling of the printed fabric is the use of the same pattern in reverse color combinations, and also to face the hem of the gown with the contrasting color combination. The snugly swathed girdle with the modish neckline is cleverly used for the smart playground print in sketch 4. Side fullness in the skirt, a bow sash effect, with corresponding bow on the shoulder as in sketch 5, are excellent style notes. This print is developed in a dark background, desired by many women for practical wear.

Red and yellow, a charming spring color scheme, is attractively carried out in the center frock simulating the bolero, with pipings in a plain color. Marquise in a charming print is employed for the dress, figure 2, with cape collar and rows of fagoting, one of the new decorative stitches. Triangular designs are seen on some distinctive dresses and add much to the smartness of the two-piece dress of sketch 1 with center front skirt pleating and the popular V neckline.

Blondes Preferred

In College Rating

THE dean's office at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., prefers blondes—but the preference is purely academic. Among the honor students there are more blondes than brunettes.

A survey has shown that four out of every seven students attaining the highest rank have had light hair and blue eyes.

While on the second honor list there were five blondes for every four brunettes.

Shadow could go anywhere that Whitefoot could go.

Up the tree he fled and popped in at the little round entrance. Then, with his heart thumping until it seemed as if it would thump its way right out, he waited. He didn't have to wait long. No, sir, he didn't have to wait long. Almost at once he heard the sound of sharp little claws on wood. Someone was climbing up that tree just as fast as he had climbed. It must be Shadow the Weasel. Whitefoot was filled with terror. He shook all over. Those claws were coming nearer and nearer. They were right up at the entrance now. Whitefoot held his breath. His eyes were fixed on the little round opening. A shadow darkened it. "I-I guess this is the end of me!" thought Whitefoot.

And right then a sharp squeaky little voice demanded, "Why are you running away from me, Whitefoot?" It was the voice of Mrs. Whitefoot. Such a relief as Whitefoot the Wood Mouse felt! His terrible fright gave way to a great gladness. (Copyright, 1928.)

TREATMENT FOR OILY SKIN

By Josephine Huddlestone

MANY women feel that creams should not be used when the skin is inclined to oiliness. This, however, is not true; for the woman with an oily skin needs creams for cleansing and massage just as much as any other woman does. The difference lies, not in whether creams should be used, but in the method in which they are used.

For instance, oily skins should not be laden with creams that are allowed to remain on for any length of time, as this overworks the pores already burdened with the excess activity of exuding a large amount of oil.

The oily skin, however, needs the stimulation of massage more so than the excessively dry skin does. Consequently, some basis of operation must be worked out to fulfill the requirements necessary and yet one which will not be injurious.

One satisfactory method is found in the following way: "First cleanse the skin with cold cream, removing all excess cream with a soft cleansing tissue. Then apply a liberal amount of massage cream to the face and neck and work this into the skin gently for several minutes. Remove the massage cream; then wash the face with soap and water, rinsing all traces of soap from the skin with lukewarm water before dashing cold water over the face and neck to stimulate circulation, and keep the muscles tight. Pat the face dry and then apply an astringent, allowing this to dry into the skin normally."

By following this procedure, the good effects of cleansing and nourishing are derived from the creams without filling the pores with an additional supply of oils.

Soap and water are to be avoided when the skin is excessively dry and inclined to peel; as soap and water only aggravate this condition. A cleansing cream should be used to remove makeup and grime from the pores. In addition to this, a cream that is rich in nourishing qualities should be used for massage. A thin coating of the same cream should be permitted to remain on the skin overnight until such time as the dryness is corrected.

The normal skin is not held by such hard and fast rules. Soap and water can be used once each day without inducing dryness, and a generous amount of creams may be used daily without causing undue oiliness if they are properly removed. (Copyright, 1928.)

India Weddings Are Golden From Start

GOLDEN wedding in India doesn't mean the fiftieth anniversary. It means the wedding itself.

American bankers recently sent $1,000,000 in gold to India. It was for the annual crop of spring brides.

When the bride comes before the indefinite number of priests to be married, she wears on her fingers upwards of twenty rings. They are usually precious stones in gold settings, the gifts of the husband and relatives.

No wedding ring is used in the ceremony itself, as in the Christian marriage. But it is considered almost essential for the bride to appear heavily bejeweled. She wears a number of bracelets, usually of gold if she or her husband can afford it, and golden earrings.

The Coronation spoon in the Tower of London is the oldest English silver spoon.

MODERN USES OF TABLE GLASSWARE

COLOR in table glassware is one of the outstanding features that makes it popular. The revivals of the craft of old glass makers has brought the modern pieces forward in a new light. The delicacy of design and models copied from nature which excel in glass work make the modern products exquisite. There are numerous copies of old Chinese crystals in figures used for lamp bases and table ornaments reproduced in color that are fascinating.

There is a diversity of the table ornaments. A delicate pink lotus of large size rises from among the green leaves and stems in a wavy base like a lake with moonlight on it. Again there is a wonderful pink flamingo, its slender black legs firmly planted on a grassy base. Candlesticks have slender black sticks with the pink feathery candle cup like the bird's feathers.

Then another fad is to have the service plates, tumblers, small glasses, candlesticks and centerpiece all to match. A table set forth in soft apple-green glass, the centerpiece of green glass decorated with garlands and ornaments in crystal is a Louis XVI basket which may be filled with maiden-hair ferns and pink roses. The fragile daintiness of the table makes it very attractive. Instead of the glass basket for the centerpiece one may use a green glass tree having the white crystal apples as its branches.

Where the white, all-crystal or quartz crystal trees are used in the center, the white glass service is used and the center tree is frequently lighted from underneath. Some of the delicate, colored glass plates have the silver or gold decorative patterns in rather broad, stroke patterns in wavy lines that are a change from the conventionalized borders. Flower holders for the corners of the hollow, square manner of decoration are flat in fan shape and are encrusted with frost-looking flowers in the white glass.

Chloride of lime strewn around the cellar will keep away any roaming mice or rats.

A challenge to doubters!

Make this personal health test and convince yourself!

THERE have been those who have doubted Postum's value to the average, normal man or woman—have called it "a drink for invalids." Then they made this personal health test. They drank Postum with their meals for thirty days in place of caffeine beverages—and were convinced!

Instead of tossing restlessly through half the night, they slept soundly. Instead of dragging irritably through the day, they were steady, alert. Headaches and indigestion disappeared. They ate better—felt better—looked better!

Nor did they lose anything in mealtime enjoyment by this simple change in diet. They found Postum a hot, hearty drink with delights all its own. A drink with a rich, full-bodied flavor—a flavor millions prefer to that of any other drink!

Make the test yourself!

Don't wait for doctor's orders! Eliminate caffeine from your diet now—make Postum your mealtime drink for thirty days! Then measure your physical gain! Like the others, you'll become a Postum user for life!

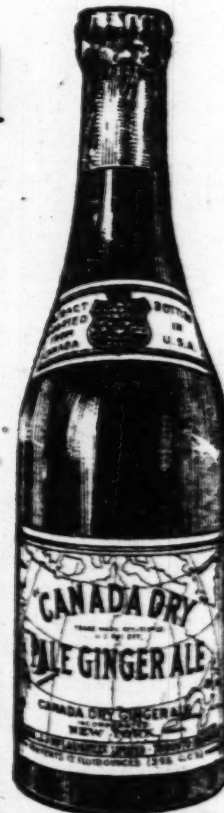

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are the same wholesome wheat—made of roasted whole wheat and bran. ## THE WAY

A WOMAN

By

Marguerite Mooers Marshall

WHO IS "THE RIGHT MAN?" MOST unmarried college women regret their single state and would have married had they met the right man. By conclusion, Katherine Remond Davis, in an article in the current Harper's, is of the opinion that the right man is so. "Who is the 'right man'?"—not merely for the college woman but for her non-college sister, the modern woman who thinks as well as feels, who has a background of some education and amenity, who has a need not marry for support.

Dr. Davis leaves the question unanswered. From one expert and a lot of observation, we are told to get down three Indian qualifications of this "right man." (If any of our male readers do not yet qualify, let it not be discouraged. Practice makes perfect.)

"The right man" is the intelligent man. We do not mean mere highbrow, the self-confident devotee of Marcel Proust, chamber music. We mean the man who is it that perfectly defines him as one "educated above intellectual station in life." Intelligent man need not be college educated. One of the ways why a college woman of acquaintance chose her husband was because he is so much more intelligent than any college graduate she ever met. By her own lack of ingrowing prejudice, quick humor and human sympathy, he has kept his mind only well stored and interested but alive and growing.

The truly modern woman, such a mind in her mate; an intelligence qualified for the and-take of good talk about books she enjoys, the happenings and the people in the world around her, the ironies of human existence. For her, marriage means a "marriage of true minds" or it means nothing.

BUT if she is awake to the glorious possibilities of marriage, she will not be content to adapt to the values of success, physical mating. For her, in addition to having a good mind, "right man" must be a good life. She herself is healthy, free, she wants equal freedom in him, she wants the freedom of his mind, she wants him to feel, with her, but pity for the point of view we heard a lady of the school express as follows: "With the Lord had never put us into the world—it's made much trouble over since."

How, without passion, the herself would have been put into the world, she apparently paused to consider. Brownism seems to us, has summed up perfectly the true relationship between the physical and mental aspects of happy married life. "Her soul helps flesh more, than flesh helps soul."

Of one other thing the modern woman wants to be sure before she marries. "The right man" must have a sense of justice. She asks him to recognize her abilities, her rights—and those of other women. He must be the sort of man who is slighting, not generalizing who repeats the many unproven and unprovable bromides of generations of male egotists. She does not ask for, or other hand, to have no mind of her own, to be imposed on by reason and self-abnegating revelations with her. She "the whatever my wife says is true"—she leaves that to the "well-trained" husband of "old-fashioned wife." She simply wants a partner with whom she can reason and listen to.

Perhaps the "reason" she is so keen on his sense of justice is because she believes that, between two minds, the problem of marriage can be solved and not given as a bad job!

There, in the main, is "the right man" for the woman of today with taste, intelligence and economic independence. Whether or not she happens to have attended college, is as unreasonable in her demand impossible in her expectations. For the truth is that, in marriage, the best is not good and half a loaf is better than no bread!

WHO IS "THE RIGHT MAN"?

MOST unmarried college women regret their single state and would have married had they met the right man, concludes Dr.
Katherine Bement Davis, in an article in the current Harper's, containing the summary of a survey of spinster alumnae and why they are so. The next and obvious question is: "Who is the 'right man'—not merely for the college woman but for her non-college sister, the modern woman who thinks as well as feels, who has a background of some cultivation and ancestry, who has a job and need not marry for support, and a lot of observation, we venture to set down three indispen-sible qualifications of this "right man." (If any of our male readers do not yet qualify, let them not be discouraged. Practice makes perfect.)

"The right man" is the intelligent man. We do not mean the mere highbrow, the self-confessed devotee of Marcel Proust and chamber music. We are not particularly keen on the highbrow—who is it that perfectly defined him as one "educated above his intellectual station in life?" The college educated. One of the reasons why a college woman of our acquaintance chose her husband was because he is so much more intelligent than any college man she ever met! By broad, deep and wise reading, by a singular lack of ingrowing prejudice, by quick humor and human sympathy, he has kept his mind not only well stored and interesting but alive and growing.

The truly modern woman wants such a mind in her mate; an intelligence qualified for the give-and-take of good talk about the books she enjoys, the happenings and the people in the world around her, the ironies of human existence. For her, marriage means "marriage of true minds" or it means nothing.

BUT if she is awake to the possibilities of mental companionship, she is not adept to the values of successful physical mating. For her, in addition to having a good lover, the "right man" must be a good lover.
She herself is healthily free from false shame and inhibitions. She wants equal freedom in him, neither the sham-facade of the rake nor that of the Puritan. She wants him to feel with her, nothing but pity for the point of view we once heard a lady of the older school express as follows: "I do wish the Lord had never put passion into the world—it's made so much trouble ever since!"

How, without passion, the lady herself would have been put into the world, she apparently hadn't paused to consider. Browning, it seems to us, has summed up most perfectly the true relationship between the physical and mental aspects of happy married life:
"Her soul helps flesh more, now, than flesh helps soul."

Of one other thing the modern woman wants to be sure before she marries. "The right man" must have a sense of justice.
He asks him to recognize her capabilities, her rights—and also those of other women. He must not be the sort of man who deals in slighting sex generalization, who repeats the many unproved and unprovable bromides of generations of male egotists.

She does not ask him, on the other hand, to have no mind of his own, to be helplessly chival-rous and self-abnegating in his relations with her. She hates
"the whatever my wife says goes" attitude—she leaves that to the "well-trained" husband of the "old-fashioned wife." She herself simply wants a partner willing to use reason and listen to argument. Perhaps the reason why she is so keen on his sense of justice is because she believes she has such a sense herself, and believes that, between two fair minds, the problem of married life is solved and not given up as a bad job.

There, in the main essentials, is "the right man" for the woman of today with taste, intelligence and economic independence—whether or not she happens to have attended college. Is she so unreasonable in her demands, so impossible in her expectations?
For the truth is that, in making a marriage, the best is none too good and half a loaf is not better than no bread!

ACKNOWLEDGING CARDS.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
When one receives cards from people, is it against the rules of etiquette to mention having received them? Just what do you think about it? I mean birthday cards or Christmas cards.
SKEPTIC.

Quite the contrary! Not to mention having received a card of greeting—of any kind and at any time—is most rude and thoughtless. When a friend sends us a card of greeting, it shows a thoughtful spirit, and such friendliness and courtesy should be most deeply appreciated and thoroughly thanked for. A card is a gift as much as any other article is a gift.
It stands for thought of a friend, is an expression, a tangible expression of the friend's wish and kind thought for us. Therefore, it should be acknowledged. Ideally, we should write a note of thanks for every card we receive, as we should for every gift we receive.
But practically this becomes impossible, at Christmas time, for instance, when so many arrive.
However, we should at least keep them in mind, and when we see our friends, we should at least say something like this: "Thank you so much for your charming Christmas card. I was so happy that you thought of me, and I appreciate it very much. And what a handsome card it was, too. A beauty."

BIRTHDAY CARDS, SINCE THEY ARE

"especially special" should be thanked for by a note, every one of them.

THE SURPRISE PARTY.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
Since you have been so kind as to solve the problems of others, we are writing you for advice. Is it proper for persons invited to a surprise party to help furnish the refreshments, or is it proper for just the persons that plan the party to furnish the refreshments?

CAL MARGE AND DOT.

I wish that I might definitely answer your question, but there just isn't any definite answer to this. Of course, ideally it is vastly better form for the people who plan the party, especially if they are of the family of the person for whom the party is being given, to provide the refreshments. If they plan the party, it would be assumed that they are the hosts, and, as such, they would provide all the details of the hospitality.

But often it is not easy to do this when surprise parties are given, since food plans often would give away the secret. Too, sometimes a few socially energetic friends of a girl, say, have a delightful idea of making her happy by giving her a party, and they invite other close friends of hers to participate in their friendly plan. Naturally all of the friends wish to share the expenses of the hospitality, since no one is especially the hostess, and all are to share the good time. Then it is fun and proper and reasonable that they get their heads together and assign details of "provisions" among themselves. It becomes a kind of picnic, and the providing of refreshments a "stunt" that adds gaiety and amusement to the "secret" plans.

Girl Is Advisor for Americans in Paris

OTHER people's ignorance has made a tidy fortune and built up a large business for Helen Scott, American business girl in Paris.
France has decorated Miss Scott with the Palms of the Academy as a mark of gratitude for the large number of American students she has been instrumental in placing in French private schools.
The girl opened a "Let-Me-Help-
You" bureau in Paris five years ago. She offered, free of charge, to help people shop, to find them houses or apartments, maids, doctors, dentists; to buy them theater tickets or even tell them where to eat.
Her work includes the investigation of French schools for Americans who wish European educations for their offspring.

If you like oatmeal now—you'll love
it this new way

BOYS and girls love anything flavored with vanilla. That gave us an idea. Why not add vanilla to oatmeal and other cereals that children, as a rule, do not relish? Try it. Your children will love oatmeal and other cereals prepared this new way. The new booklet, "35 Appetite Helps for Mother," written by Mrs. King, is full of ways to make cereals tempting to children—and adults as well. Sent free on request. Address

Life Is Dull for Woman Who Drives a Nitroglycerin Truck

Mrs. Tex Thornton Envis
Her Husband Who Shoots
the Stuff Into Oil Fires and Has a Real Exciting Time.

HER husband's dangerous vocation is shared by Mrs. Tex Thornton of Amarillo, Tex., wife of the man who puts out fires in the oil fields by tossing nitro-glycerin into the flames. But she finds no thrill in it.

It is Mrs. Thornton's job to haul nitroglycerin to her husband. Recently she drove an automobile 800 miles over rough roads, carrying 1500 quarts of the explosive.
Scores of motorists who saw Mrs.
Thornton approaching abandoned their automobiles and scurried under the prairie. But she insisted there was "nothing to make a fuss about."

Mrs. Thornton had to change tires five times before she delivered the nitroglycerin to her husband, who was fighting a costly gas fire at Corpus Christi.
"My work is just colorless routine," she remarked after the perious trip. "Tex has all the fun, and I envy him. His work really is dangerous, and he accomplishes something. My bit is incidental and anybody could do it."

Thornton's "fun" consists of donning an asbestos suit, crawling to the edge of a fire crater and hurling 50 to 100 quarts of nitro-glycerin into the flames. If several blasts fail to extinguish the fire, he digs deeper into his bag of tricks and gets water and steam to help him.

Mrs. Thornton also takes care of the storage of the family stock of Bumping over rough roads with a cargo of explosives holds no thrills for Mrs. Tex Thornton (left). She says her husband (lower right) has all the fun of fighting oil well blazes, like the one pictured, with the nitroglycerin which she hauls to him.

nitroglycerin. While she does not dread the explosive, she does fear the mice and snakes which she finds in the storehouse.

Since their marriage five years ago, Mrs. Thornton has been helping Tex fight the fires. Her hobby is airplanes, and she longs for the day when her husband can buy her one.

Slightly sweeten the table cream and add a few drops of vanilla and you have an impromptu sauce for the chocolate pudding.

Women Too Eager
For New Freedom

THE modern woman is stumbling over herself in her haste to be modern, but soon she will realize that "the best way is to stand up straight and pick her course slowly and surely."
That is the statement of Dona Isabel de Palencia, leader among women in Spain, who is in this country for a lecture tour. She has implicit faith in womankind, but deprecates its haste.

"Women today and particularly the women of America are so excited about having their independence, their vote, their business jobs, their political appointments, that they forget that they have other things to do also."

"And they are apt to forget that, after all, only a woman can be a mother and a homemaker." Senora de Palencia sees in the future a well-regulated woman who can have her children and also keep abreast of the times intellectually and politically. She herself is responsible for the establishment of the first woman's club in Spain, which is now concluding its first year. The club idea has taken a great hold upon the women of her country, she says, and the movement is gradually spreading to cities other than Madrid.

Fat on the Soup.

Leave all the fat in the soup stock until it is cool. It will harden on top and then can be removed very easily. If you desire to use the soup immediately without cooling, the fat can be wiped off the top with the aid of clean tissue paper. But under no consideration serve the soup with a heavy greasy layer of fat on top. It is worth the trouble of removing it.

An Electric Waffle Iron.

Use ordinary baking soda to keep the electric waffle iron bright and clean. Apply the soda dry with a dry brush and all grease and discoloration will disappear.

FLO ZIEGFELD reveals how women can always look their best

THOUSANDS of ordinarily attractive women fail to achieve loveliness because of this one tiny everyday mistake. Instead of choosing the precisely correct tone in their own shade of face powder, they simply ask for Rachel, Naturelle, Rose, etc., little realizing that face powder shades, even of the same name—are never alike—that with one, only the most ordinary results may be achieved while another brings out an exquisite radiance and loveliness of skin texture and color often previously undiscovered.

No one perhaps is more aware of this astonishing difference than Florenz Ziegfeld—famous creator of the Follies, one of the few distinguished experts on feminine beauty in America. Mr.
Ziegfeld says: "There are no shades of known face powder in any opinion that stimulate more naturally the color characteristics of the average skin, that blend more imperceptibly, that so marvelously emphasize loveliness as those of Houbigant—and yet they never cause a made-up appearance—a thing which I detest."

In addition to these fascinating shades of Houbigant powder smart women have found in the new Queques Fleurs Skin Lotion an extremely effective liquid powder base. 4 oz., $1. Houbigant powders are offered in 6 shades and 12 lovely odors—75¢ and $1.50. For purse use—in the smart new double compact—$2.50.
